

CONFESSES TAXICAB KILLING

TELLS BUILDERS TO END STRIKES ON JURISDICTION

Union Chief Warns of Craft Danger.

INDICT IN CHICAGO

The special Cook county grand jury yesterday voted indictments against Tom Kearney, president of the Chicago Building Trades council, and Simon O'Donnell, his predecessor. The action followed evidence produced by the Daily legislative committee. The charges are that Kearney and O'Donnell took part in the various strikes—the Atlantic hotel reconstruction, the Alhambra theater, the Webster hotel, etc.

Denver, Colo., June 9.—The organized building craftsmen of the country must free building industry of jurisdictional strife, craft jurisdictional disputes, or other unnecessary restrictions, John H. Donlin, president of the building trades department of the American Federation of Labor, told delegates to the annual convention today.

Every organization must guarantee to arbitrate all questions arising in industry, the labor leader asserted. Approval must be made to prevent cessation of work pending the arbitration of any controversy.

Is "Serious Menace."

We must stop tying up building operations upon which none but union men are employed," he added, declaring that the cessation of work inflicted injury on ourselves and injustice upon the investor, and hurt the general morale and well being of the community.

We must not injure communities," he said, "cause innocent persons to suffer pecuniary loss, the danger of financial ruin, and cause our rank and file to suffer incalculable losses.

Jurisdictional disputes are not only the most dangerous problems to organized craftsmen but a serious menace to industry."

Mr. Donlin declared jurisdictional strikes are the "result of demagogues and aspirants for office, or a class of workers impossible to satisfy, or for reasons that will not stand the magnifying glass."

Must Solve Problem.

"This convention will indeed be a mockery, a hypocrisy, on the things our movements stand for unless we solve our jurisdictional disputes," he said, urging that the department reaffirm its support to the national board of jurisdictional awards in the building industry.

By all the laws of honor upon which civilizations rests, we building trades men are committed to this board."

Capital and labor should cooperate to reduce the cost of living, the labor leader said, adding:

"Capital and management must start up all industries, labor agreeing to a maximum output per individual, thus keeping wages up and the cost of living down. Capital and management should also bear the burden of readjustment. Give to the masses what they consume at the cost of production plus a fair profit."

Defends Building Wage.

The aggregate wage paid building workers is not high or responsible for the high cost of buildings, said the labor leader. He blamed the high cost of living on "high financing, excessive overheads, and excessive profits."

"Now is the opportune time to build homes," added the speaker. "Banks should remove any obstacle in the way of borrowers and make their loans inviting to those who would build. Material men should remove restrictions and effects of combinations from the cost of homes. Labor should insure efficiency."

INDICT KEARNEY, O'DONNELL

Indictments charging conspiracy to extort money were voted by the special building grand jury yesterday against Tom Kearney, head of the Chicago Building Trades council; Simon O'Donnell, his predecessor in office, and four other labor agents. It was the first time since the grand jury began its work that either of the building trades leaders was named in an indictment, although the names of both have been mentioned in testimony before the Daily legislative committee. Where against whom true bills were returned is not stated.

'I'M THROUGH,' IS GEORGE COHAN'S REPLY TO EQUITY

Closed Shop Angers Actor and Author.

New York, June 9.—[Special.]—George M. Cohan announced today his retirement from the American theater. Differences with Actors' Equity association have "shoved me out," he puts it. Although he expressed it in the terse: "I'm through," Mr. Cohan will not say unequivocally that he will never again be playwright, act, produce, sing, dance. What he does insist upon, however, is that conditions imposed upon him by the actors' organization have compelled him to discard his plan for the fall and call in his productions here and upon the road.

Four hundred actors are immediately affected by his decision and Mr. Cohan says more than a thousand will be, in the fall. As far as this city is concerned, "The Tavern," in which he plays the vagabond, will continue for several weeks until the expiration of his contracts. His other productions were due to close Saturday night.

Formed Fidelity League.

Ever since the actors' strike Cohan has been in difficulties with the association. It was he who formed the Equity's rival, the Fidelity league. When the Producing Managers' association capitulated, he resigned, and carried on the battle against unionism in the theater.

The producers in the association have contacts with the Equity that run up to 1924. Mr. Cohan has no such contract. And the Equity has ruled that beginning in the fall, no Equity actor will play with a non-Equity actor, forming what is known in labor circles as the "closed shop."

Whether or not Mr. Cohan's retirement will cause a coalition of managers to strike back at the Equity is problematical. David Belasco, who holds no brief for the Equity, sent him a telegram in which he assured the actor, producer, etc., that he was "gloriously right."

How George Sees It.

As George M. Cohan sees it, his decision was thrust upon him by a sort of conspiracy among Equity officials. "I was always for the actors," he shouted, "helped them every time, did everything I could for them, ran errands for them—even got them out of jail if it came to that. They got more money with me than anywhere else."

"There's no one," he continued, "who believes more in protecting the actor than I do. My God, after all I've done for 'em, the Equity people accuse me of hiding a dagger in a velvet glove. After all I've done for 'em, I tell you, this Equity thing is horrible. It has ruined lifelong friendships; it has taken from me everything I love. I tell you, I'm through. I'm THROUGH, THROUGH!"

1 SHIP STRUCK BY ICEBERG ASKS AID; IS STEAMING IN

St. Johns, N. F., June 9.—The American freight steamer Charlot, which struck an iceberg about 200 miles off the Newfoundland coast last night, reported late tonight that the water had reached the fire room, and asked the nearest steamer to stand by.

The American steamer Seapole, which also struck an iceberg, is making port under its own steam.

Speeder Should Be Glad It Is Early in Summer

Corunna, Mich., June 9.—A summer tourist was hailed into a certain justice court here for speeding today. After pleading guilty he protested that his fine was too high for a first offense.

"That makes no difference," the justice replied. "I had a speeder yesterday. You are the second offender and the law provides a heavy fine for the second offense. The fine will stand."

WAITING HER TURN

8 CENT TAX RATE FOR FREE SCHOOL BOOKS SPECIFIED

Springfield, Ill., June 9.—[Special.]—Representative Shanahan compelled the Chicago school board today to stand for an eight cent tax rate for free text books. This rate was specified in the house after a stubborn fight between Mr. Shanahan and Representative Browne of La Salle. The house fixed the rate for school books at 8 cents and the general rate for all school purposes at 12 cents. The house defeated an amendment offered by Representative Shanahan that would have made the aggregate school rate 170.

By a vote of 100 to 23, the house passed the Young bill, increasing the Chicago corporate tax rate from $1.43 1/3 to $1.55 and extending to 1923 the time limit on the $1.33 1/3 rate for downstate cities. The bill would revert this year to 80 cents. The bill now goes to the senate.

The general revenue bills are to come up for action tomorrow if a quorum remains—otherwise next Tuesday.

MEANS 40-50% JUMP.

Robert B. Beach, business manager of the Chicago Association of Commerce, in address before Kiwanis club members at the Morrison yesterday, added his voice to the chorus warning that intolerable taxes will result if certain bills now before the legislature are passed. He said these measures, if given effect, would increase taxes from 40 to 50 per cent.

HOUSE PASSES $60,000,000 ROAD APPROPRIATIONS

Springfield, Ill., June 9.—[Special.]—The house tonight passed bills for road construction carrying a total of more than $60,000,000.

One appropriation of $5,000,000 is for the construction of a cement plant. The bill to meet a similar figure from the federal treasury carries $20,000,000. There was a bill for $3,500,000 for a secondary road system that is to come from the proposed cent per gallon tax on gasoline.

Thirty millions is appropriated from the $60,000,000 bond issue for the pending hard roads program and the last bill appropriates $3,000,000 for maintenance of hard roads already constructed.

FOREMAN BETTER AFTER RELAPSE

Regains Consciousness; Mourn Galbraith.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 9.—[Special.]—The condition of Col. Milton J. Foreman, injured in the accident yesterday morning in which Col. Frederick W. Galbraith lost his life, was reported greatly improved at 11 o'clock tonight. Earlier in the day when he became worse physicians thought for a time that he had suffered a fractured skull from the accident, but tonight after a consultation (it was agreed his injury was a concussion of the brain. He was conscious tonight and his physicians believe he will recover.

It was discovered today that the steering gear of the car in which the party was returning to Indianapolis from the Country Club was probably defective. Automobile men, who examined the car today said a spring shock on the front of the steering gear had become reversed.

Col. Galbraith's Body Sent Home.

Telegrams of sorrow and sympathy over the death of Col. Galbraith were received today from cities and American Legion posts all over the country. One of the messages was from President Harding.

Under escort of several hundred members of the American Legion, a detachment of troops from Fort Benjamin Harrison and friends, the body of Col. Galbraith was placed aboard a train tonight for Cincinnati. Maj. Gen. Reed, commanding the 5th division of the United States army, and his staff were a part of the escort.

Following the funeral at Cincinnati members of the national executive committee of the American Legion will return to this city to elect one of the national vice commanders to serve until the annual convention of the Legion is held at Kansas City.

Cincinnati Flags at Half Mast.

Cincinnati, O., June 9.—The body of Col. F. W. Galbraith, national commander of the American Legion, on arrival here tonight, was met by a full company of regular soldiers from Fort Thomas, Ky., and hundreds of Col. Galbraith's business and military associates.

Tributes in U. S. Senate.

Washington, D. C., June 9.—Tributes were paid in the senate today to Col. Galbraith by Senators Willis, Ohio; Frelinghuysen, New Jersey; and Walsh, Massachusetts.

"Nation's Loss."—Pershing.

New York, June 9.—The American Legion today made public the following telegram sent Mrs. Frederick W. Galbraith by Gen. Pershing:

"I am shocked beyond words at the death of your distinguished husband. His loss will be irreparable at this time, both to the Legion and nation. You have my deepest personal sympathy."

court of Tarrant county, Texas. Mr. Kirkland read affidavits from Judge Bruce Young, who signed the decree, and from clerks of the court, who stated that the divorce had been granted to Peggy Joyce Jan. 20, 1930.

An affidavit was also introduced signed by Philbrick Hopkins in which he stated he had been a bona fide resident of Tarrant county for more than six months, and, in fact, had lived there over three years, intending to make his home there.

Peggy Secured Decree

He started divorce proceedings against Peggy Oct. 11, 1919, alleging at the time she had abandoned him for a period of more than three years. In December of that year Peggy filed an answer to his petition and a cross action, charging him with abandonment for a period of over three years, which is the statutory time limit for abandonment under the Texas laws. After that the affidavit said Hopkins had not seen or heard from her until he learned she had been granted a divorce from him.

"Philbrick Hopkins intended to get a divorce some time before," he said. "But he listened to the call of his country and joined the army, serving overseas."

He turned from the court. He pointed to Joyce. Joyce lowered his head. That was all, but the crowd "got it."

Shows His Draft Status

Joyce, however, had brought along his draft card, No. 1375, division 8, which placed him in class 3-deferred, to show he was no slacker. He had been classed thus because he was the head of a firm supplying the government with lumber.

"He, Joyce, has gone so far as to charge Peggy with bigamy before he married her," the attorney continued, referring to the divorce obtained by Everett Archibald in 1914. Peggy had married Hopkins in 1913.

"In such cases the intent must be shown," Mr. Kirkland said. "Peggy was told by a Denver attorney, before she married Hopkins, that Archibald had been given a divorce. A year later she found Archibald had gone to Idaho for his divorce and had just obtained it. 'If this be true, and I have no reason to doubt it, her marriage to Hopkins was illegal, therefore null and void. And she was perfectly free to marry Mr. Joyce.'"

QUIZ JOYCE ABOUT WEALTH

In his direct examination Attorney Kirkland set out at once to question Joyce regarding his wealth.

"On page 39 of your answer," declared Attorney Kirkland, "you say your assets are $2,995,188.36. What do you mean by that?"

"That represents my net worth on March 21, 1921," replied Joyce.

"Is there anything significant in that date?" A-I have an accounting made every month. That one was filed by an expert accountant, Mr. Johnson.

Q-What were those assets? A-I'd rather you got the information from Mr. Johnson.

Q-I'd rather get it from you.

What were the assets? A-Well, there was no stock in the Illinois Trust and Savings bank and some in the Corn Exchange bank.

Q-What is your business? A-Lumber and railroads.

Q-What's the name of the firm? A-The William T. Joyce company.

Q-What is its capital stock? A-Two million.

Q-How much do you own? A-A third.

Q-How long has the company been in existence? A-My father founded it.

Q-Before 1909 did you hold any shares? A-I had one share.

Inherited His Stock in 1909.

Q-Then you inherited the rest? A-Yes.

Q-Did it pay you any dividends last year? A-I don't recall. I don't think it did.

Q-Do you mean to tell me that you, with all these shares, cannot recall whether or not a dividend was declared? A-Really, I don't recall whether there was one or not.

Q-What is the value of the stock? A-Par value, $100 a share.

Q-Would you sell your holdings at par? A-I wouldn't sell at any price.

Q-Did you, in arriving at the amount of your wealth as $3,000,000, place the value of the William T. Joyce Lumber company stock as part of his net worth. The auditor, did that?

Q-Would you sell a thousand shares for $150 a share? A-I would consider that a high price for the stock, but I wouldn't take any price for my stock; I have already told you that.

Q-You consider yourself a good business man? A-Yes, sir.

Q-You consider the stock worth more and the business a better business with men like yourself and your brother in charge of it? A-Yes.

Q-But you can't remember what dividends the stock paid during 1919? A-No, I cannot.

Q-Have you transferred during the last six months any stocks or securities to any one else to hold for you? A-No, sir.

Q-Is anybody holding any property in trust for you now, your mother or brother? A-No, sir.

Q-What consideration did your brother David give you for the deed to the house in Miami, Florida? A-None.

Q-What consideration was raised by Attorney Austin to the question, no reason being given, however. It was overruled by Judge Sabath.

Accuses Peggy of Robbing Him.

Then came Joyce's first show of feeling toward "Peggy."

"No consideration at all. It was my intention in deeding that property over to my brother to prevent her from deeding it over to some other third party, to prevent her from robbing me of any more of my property."

Mr. Kirkland-You deeded it to him to rob her of her property? A-I did it to prevent her robbing me of any more of what belonged to me.

Q-What was your net worth $2,995,188, after you had deducted the items of $300,000 and $150,000 owed to Cartier's and another New York firm for Mrs. Joyce's jewels? A-Yes.

Q-How many automobiles do you own, Mr. Joyce? A-Four.

Q-What are they, and what is their value? A-A Locomobile, cost $8,000; Stutz, $2,000; Mercedes, second hand, $5,000, and a Simplex, 1917 model, $9,000.

Q-Are these cars in Chicago? A-Yes, sir.

Q-Do you own any cars in New York or Europe? A-No, I don't.

gave Mrs. Joyce a car in New York and another in Europe.

Q-Do you own any real estate? A-Yes. In Berkeley Hills, Conn. I have a place worth $20,000. That's all I've got, although it is listed too high-as $40,000 in the inventory.

Q-Any other real estate? A-Yes. I have a small place in Minnesota for which I paid $500.

Q-What do you use this place for? A-I intended to use it as a camping place for us.

Q-How do you arrive at the conclusion that your income will be only $38,000 this year? A-Well, business is bad and the stocks I hold will not pay much.

Q-Have you received any money this year from stocks? A-Yes; $13,000 from the Trinity Lumber company.

Insured for $400,000.

Q-What profit did the Joyce Lumber company make during the first quarter of 1929? A-About as much as it lost during the first quarter of this year.

Q-What profit did the Joyce Lumber company make during the first quarter of 1929? A-About as much as it lost during the first quarter of this year.

Q-Do you carry any life insurance? A-Yes.

Q-Has it any cash surrender value? A-I don't know.

Q-What is the amount of life insurance you carry? A-Four hundred thousand.

Q-Insurance payable to whom? A-To my estate, for the benefit of my mother and my brother.

Attacks Peggy's Character.

Q-Have you changed the beneficiary of that insurance lately? A-Yes, I have.

Q-When? A-When I found out that my wife was not a good woman.

Q-You changed it when-during the last six months? A-Yes; when I found out my wife was not a good woman.

Mr. Kirkland-I heard you the first time.

Q-What does it cost you annually to carry that insurance? A-About six or seven thousand. It's a liability instead of a source of income.

Q-Do you keep a chauffeur? A-Yes; one.

Q-One is enough, is it not? A-It is, but as a matter of fact I have about one-half of a chauffeur, because my man drives for my mother also.

CROWE URGED TO DIG INTO HI COST OF SOLE FIXING

Charging that a combination to keep shoe repairing prices at the wartime level exists in Chicago, Russell J. Crowe, secretary of the council committee on high costs, requested State's Attorney Crowe yesterday to investigate the Shoemakers' association.

"I have the written statements of a large number of Chicago shoe repairmen who declare that they have been threatened, beat up, and, in some instances, bombed because they have refused to continue charging the wartime prices fixed by the association," Mr. Crowe said in a letter to Aid. Govier, chairman of the committee.

An abstract of the statements was forwarded to State's Attorney Crowe last night.

"STAND BY EVERY WORD SAID": SIMS

U. S. Senate Orders Naval Committee Inquiry.

BY JOHN STEELE.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

(Copyright, 1921, by The Chicago Tribune.)

LONDON, June 9.—Rear Admiral Sims forecast today what he would say in reply to Secretary of the Navy Denby when he received the secretary's letter demanding explanation of his anti-Irish speech at the English Speaking Union luncheon. He said he would stand by every word he had said.

"I shall not repudiate a single word. I see nothing un-American in what I said, even if Senator McCormick does. I have received no cable from Secretary Denby, but if I do I will reply along the line I have indicated."

This is not the first of Rear Admiral Sims' charges against the Sinn Feiners. He has made them repeatedly. The rear admiral frequently has been denounced as a "tool of the British government."

Statesmen Lead Admiral.

A high tribute to the American navy was paid by British statesmen tonight at a meeting of the British parliamentary navy committee in the house of commons. Admiral and Mrs. Sims were present and they met with a hearty cordial reception from the distinguished gathering. Austen Chamberlain, the government spokesman, assured the admiral that no more welcome guest ever had come to the house of commons. He praised the admiral not only for his work in war times, but also for the cordial relations he helped to establish and maintain between the American and British navies.

Other speakers of prominence spoke on similar lines.

SENATE ORDERS INQUIRY

CITY HALL BILLS
PUSHED FORWARD
AT LAST MINUTETraction and 'Home Rule'
Taken Up.

BY PARKE BROWN.
Springfield, Ill., June 9.—[Special.]—The "5 cent fare" bill and the "home rule" bill—two artificial flies cast by the deft hands of Fred Lundin—have been steered so carefully today they were thrown into the stack of business that has been accumulated for the last week of the legislative session.

There, it is said, the backers of the measures hope the rush will be so fast that the bills will escape criticism and analysis that would bare the bones. Something more than rumor backs the statement that the machine has deliberately "stalled" the calendar so that in the final hour, when vote swapping is resorted to, the fathers of the bills in order to get their own measures up, the fathers and the high-powered silk of these voter bills will be torn apart.

Tuesday, the Jam.
The situation that the machine desired was brought about this afternoon when the senate quit work until next morning. Beginning Tuesday the jam which measures are pending in the upper house. The "home rule" bill has been held on second reading all week without an effort to call it up. The second scheme which pretends to give Chicago a nickel fare was passed in the house this morning and sent to the senate for action. That puts it in the more acute stage of the jam until the end of next week.

It's a Nice Problem.
The action of the house was taken without debate. Ben L. Smith of Peoria was the only man to speak a few words in protest. The rest voted without comment or refused to vote because they knew if they opposed the bill the machine would attack them as opposing nickel fares.
The roll call stood 34 to 31. There has been some expectation that Cook county democrats after last Monday's demonstration by the voters would stand up against the machine, as a whole. But twelve of them voted for the bill and only three—Boyle, Noonan and Peter J. Smith—voted against it. The others, Conlon, Maher, Ferina and W. Ryan, passed their vote. The roll call follows:

Senate Not So Easy.

Until shortly before adjournment it was expected the senate might pass the bill along to second reading. But even this step was taken, apparently because it will permit the using of more time next week. Some members of the body have indicated that this measure will not have the unobstructed road it had in the lower house.

They say they will point out that if

HERE TO HONOR HEROES

Gen. Pershing and his son Warren in Chicago yesterday.

Business in the stockyards was stopped for one hour yesterday when Gen. John J. Pershing unveiled a bronze tablet bearing the names of 596 yards men who went to the war. The tablet, which measures 5x7 feet, was a gift of live stock commission firms.
Ten thousand persons greeted the war commander of the A. E. F. and made it necessary for a squad of police to clear a path to the speakers' platform. Gen. Pershing was accompanied by Brig. Gen. Charles Dawes, Arthur D. Leonard, president of the the machine can put this bill through, create a "transportation district" consisting of Chicago and most of its Cook county suburbs, it could elect its own trustees unless the voters rose in mass, as they did in the judicial election, and blocked the game.

This achievement would give Mr. Lundin control over the expenditure of unestimated millions of dollars and thousands of jobs to be filled by his card index O. K. system. They say it has lost its pretense of municipal ownership given by the pet name used in the recent campaign, "people's ownership," and will be denounced as an attempt to establish "machine ownership."

ALDERMEN VOICE DOUBTS.
"I have not seen the bill," said Ald. Ulysses S. Schwartz, chairman of the council local transportation committee, last night. "However, I understand it now contains provisions that in the event a deficit occurs under the 5 cent fare the people shall decide whether the deficit shall be made up through taxation or by increase in fares. In that case it can no longer properly be called a 5 cent fare."
"There is one good thing about the mayor's traction plan," said former Ald. Henry D. Capitani, former chairman of the local transportation committee, "the people are going to have a chance to vote on it."

Mr. Capitani pointed out that the bill will mean another taxing body.
"Everybody knows what that means," he said. "With the establishment of a traction district we would have politically run street cars."
Get Victory Medals Before July 2, or Face Red Tape
To get a victory medal after July 2, former soldiers may find it necessary to write to Washington, thereby involving much red tape. At present the medals can be obtained on the second floor of the Federal building from Lieut. Col. Horace P. Sykes. A discharge or a true copy of a discharge entitles each ex-soldier to a medal. The discharge may be mailed in or sent by a friend or relative and the medal will be forwarded.

ILLINOIS CIVIL SERVICE LAW IN DANGER, CHARGEDenounce Small's "Raid
for Patronage."

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]
Springfield, Ill., June 9.—[Special.]—Charging that the Wheeler bill, which the Thompson-Lundin-Small organization is attempting to push through the senate, is a move to kill the civil service system in the state and grab thousands of jobs for their own henchmen, R. E. Blackwood, secretary and one of the directors of the Civil Service Reform association of Chicago, today issued a statement in which he attacks the purposes of the bill.

3,000 Patronage Plums.
Mr. Blackwood's statement follows: "Between 2,000 and 3,000 jobs, with an annual aggregate salary of from $3,000.00 to $5,000.00. This is the patronage plum sought by the state administration in its latest move, the introduction of senate bill 531 by State Senator John A. Wheeler of Springfield."

"Apparently no one in the Lundin-Thompson-Small organization has the courage to stand out before the people and advocate a straightforward attempt to repeal the state civil service law. They choose rather to undermine the service by exempting all important positions and leaving the impression with the people that there is still a law."

"No one should be overlooked that never since the people of Illinois voted almost 4 to 1 for civil service in 1910, has the opportunity been offered which the passage of this bill presents for a job dispensing machine to take such complete control of the destinies of the state."

"The greed of the Lundin-Small-Thompson machine for jobs is demonstrated by the speed with which this bill moved. On Monday of this week the machine was informed by the voters of Cook county that its patronage claws would be kept off some 3,000 positions in Chicago's parks. Tuesday the bill was introduced by Senator Wheeler."

"It should not be overlooked that the governor has a son-in-law, two brothers, and other relatives on the state pay roll. The governor's son has his office next door to his father's."

WOMEN'S CLUBS PROTEST.
Protesting against the Wheeler bill, the Woman's City Club, the Chicago Woman's club, the Chicago Federation of Women, the Illinois federation, the League of Women Voters, and other state and city women's organizations have sent telegrams to Gov. Small, who has publicly announced that he favors the measure.

CAPTURE OF $20,000 JEWELRY STORE ROBBERS

JEWEL ROBBERS
IN-TRAP; GIVE UP
AFTERGUNFIGHT

Fusillade on Hiding Place Wounds One.

Two bandits were captured yesterday after a gun battle with the police in which one of them was shot. Following the robbery of the jewelry store of M. Kosiek, 1653 West 38th street, of diamonds and other jewelry valued at $20,000, the robbers drove east into a blind street. Unable to cross Bubbly creek, they leaped from their machine and sought refuge in a warehouse at 1455 West 38th street. They were surrounded there and surrendered only after the exchange of scores of shots.
The robbers are Burton and Emory Parquette, brothers, 17 and 23 years old respectively, of 3124 West Monroe street. Burton was shot in the abdomen and is in a critical condition at the Brighton Park hospital.

Ask to See Jewelry.
They entered the jewelry store and asked to see some diamonds. Mr. Kosiek placed several trays on the show case and was displaying the stones to Emory when Burton produced a revolver and told him to hold up his hands and face the wall. He complied. The Parquettes seized all the valuables in sight and jumped into their waiting automobile.

Police Alarm Sent In.
Mead and others pursued the robbers to Bubbly creek. Robert Foot, manager of the Marine Engine company, sent in a police alarm and squads from the Dering and Brighton stations and the detective bureau under command of Lieut. Albert Winge, hurried to the scene. Foot and a posse of citizens numbering 20 held the men at bay.

With the arrival of the police the bandits were commanded to surrender. They refused and a fusillade was poured into their hiding place. When Burton was shot Emory advised surrender and they came marching out, hands in the air.

HOME BREWERS
USE ONLY 16,000
TONS OF RAISINS
Washington, D. C., June 9.—Home brewers used up more than 16,000 tons of raisins in 1919, W. M. Giffen, president of the California Associated Raisin company, estimated today in giving a senate subcommittee his views on the pending bill to authorize collective bargaining by farmers.
He placed the raisin grape crop of 1918 at 167,000 tons and of 1919 at 181,000 tons, the difference, in his judgment, representing demand from home brewers. This demand was now decreasing, he added, the "hobby" for home brewing apparently having worn itself out to some extent.

SEERESS SAYS SHE WAS URGED TO KILL KABER
Cleveland, O., June 9.—The filing of a sworn statement by Mrs. Mary J. Wade, a fortune teller, with Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton that Mrs. Eva Catherine Kaber had asked her to kill Daniel F. Kaber, her husband, a wealthy publisher, was the outstanding local feature of the case today.
Mrs. Wade, questioned by Prosecutor Stanton and city and county detectives for two hours, finally declared that several months before the murder Mrs. Kaber came to her home, said she was in love with another man and requested Mrs. Wade to kill Kaber.

Taken Back to Ohio.

New York, June 9.—Mrs. Eva Kaber and her 20 year old daughter, Miss Marian McArden, late today were formally turned over to Chief of Police Christensen of Lakewood, O., to be taken back to Ohio tomorrow to face charges of first degree murder in connection with the killing of the girl's stepfather, Daniel F. Kaber, wealthy publisher, nearly two years ago.

PAM, BACK FROM EUROPE, PLEADS CAUSE OF JEWS

"U. S. Misinformed; War Refugees Desirable."

A plea for thousands of Jews who are being driven out by the nations of Europe to die of starvation and disease in the desolate wastes beyond the frontiers of civilization, was made yesterday by Judge Hugo Pam, who returned recently from a four months' tour of the war-stricken regions in Poland, Roumania, and other countries. Judge Pam declared the administration at Washington has been misinformed concerning conditions abroad by those who were working in the interests of anti-immigration legislation.

Judge Pam went abroad as representative of the Hebrew Shelter and Immigrant Aid Society of America, whose object is to protect the immigrant from exploitation, give him temporary shelter, and instruct him in English and the elements of American citizenship.

Help to Reunite Families.

"Many immigrants who came to us before the war left behind their mothers, fathers, wives, and children," said Judge Pam. "It was to locate these lost relatives, aid them, and if possible reunite the families that I was sent to Europe. This work is going forward rapidly. Commissioners are at work in different parts of Europe and quite a bureau has been established in Warsaw."

"There are hundreds of thousands of Jews in Roumania and in Poland who are fugitives from White Russia and Ukraine, where intolerable conditions caused them to seek shelter in these two countries. The stay of these refugees in Roumania and Poland is the very nature of things in these two countries is only temporary. The condition under which they were allowed to enter was that their stay could only be temporary, on account of the lack of housing, lack of food, lack of industry, lack of work, and general unfavorable conditions in these countries."

Thousands Look to United States.

"Thus it was we found hundreds of thousands of these Jewish refugees housed in miserable hovels and shanties, enduring untold suffering and hardships. Words cannot describe the destitution in which these people exist and how they suffer. They wait, hope and pray for a chance to work and live under conditions that will permit them to hope for permanent homes, security, and real happiness."

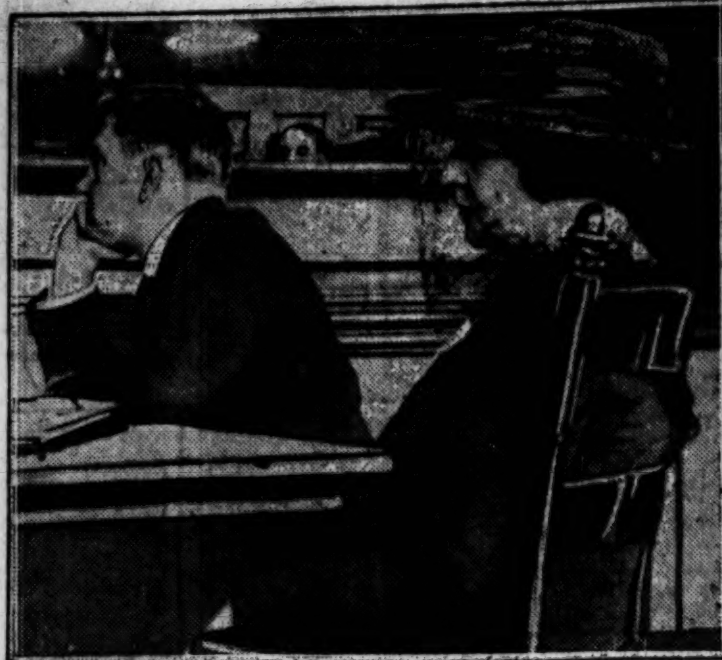

"When there appear in reports of congress or in alleged reports of experts charges that 95 per cent or a large majority of this immigration is undesirable, those who have seen these refugees will all unite with me in attesting that such reports are based upon superficial appearances, upon misinformation, and upon a lack of knowledge and understanding."

"After my investigation I will have no hesitancy in presenting to the proper United States government officials and committees of congress incontrovertible facts to dispel the false alarms and charges directed at these people. Under the rags and shabby clothes, behind the countenance which shows the struggle with starvation and misery, there are sterling characters, pure hearts; people worthy of getting an opportunity and a helping hand."

Pleas for More Just Laws.

"If the public at large would only know of the conditions and ordeals of these refugees a strong public opinion

MRS. ORTHWEIN IN COURT

Spectators yesterday at the trial of Mrs. Cora Isabelle Orthwein for the slaying of Herbert P. Ziegler said she already appeared pale and haggard, although the jury that will decide her fate has not yet been selected. The picture shows Mrs. Orthwein and Benedict J. Short, one of her attorneys, in court.

JUDGE BERATES LANDLORD, RULES FOR HIS TENANT

"If all Chicago landlords transacted business like you do, God help the tenant," Judge John J. Rooney in Municipal court so remarked yesterday when John F. Grote, 2409 North Francisco avenue, appeared to push a forcible detainer against Mrs. Louis Klotz, one of his tenants at 831 North Kedzie avenue. He wanted her to move July 10.

Grote collected June rent from Mrs. Klotz June 3, and the same morning filed the detainer suit, charging she had failed to pay her rent on the first of the month and had broken the contract. It was shown that several times before Grote accepted rent payments after the first of the month. Judge Rooney decided Grote had no case.

Hillsboro Newspaper Man to Succeed John F. Kramer

Washington, D. C., June 9.—Roy A. Haynes of Hillsboro, O., was understood tonight to be the administration's choice for prohibition commissioner to succeed John F. Kramer, also of Ohio. Mr. Haynes is the editor of a newspaper in Hillsboro.

Optimistic on Europe. Concerning European conditions generally he said: "Although there are some spots where suffering and needs continue intensely, and though there are many perplexing and vexatious problems confronting the various peoples, I believe that slowly and steadily an improvement and a settling process is going on and I am optimistic as to the future."

Woman Freed on Mail Theft Charge. Mary Carrozza of East Chicago, Ind., was discharged by United States Commissioner James B. Glass yesterday afternoon on a charge of robbing the mails. She was arrested as a suspect in the $1,000,000 Toledo mail robbery last February when she attempted to cash some stolen Liberty bond coupons.

DEATH PENALTY BROUGHT UP AT ORTHWEIN TRIAL

Although one special panel of thirty-five veniremen had been exhausted and the quizzing of the second panel started, only seven jurors had been tentatively chosen last night for the trial of Mrs. Cora Isabelle Orthwein for the slaying of Herbert P. Ziegler. During the day eleven veniremen were questioned and excused.

For the first time the question of a death verdict was brought up by Assistant State's Attorney Floyd Heth in charge of the prosecution. He was examining Alfred E. Richardson of 308 Forest avenue, River Forest.

"Do you believe that you could bring in a verdict of death in this case?" Could you sentence this defendant to be hanged?" Prosecutor Heth asked. Richardson hesitated, then said: "No, I couldn't condemn a woman."

He was challenged by the prosecution and was excused by Judge Francis Wilson.

Mrs. Orthwein and her sister, Mrs.

Birdie Clifford, were in court, wearing the same costumes as on the day before. That the strain of the trial is already having its effect was indicated by their pale, haggard appearance.

Mrs. Peter Ziegler, mother of the slain man, joined her husband in the courtroom for the first time. She gave no sign of recognition of Mrs. Orthwein or her sister.

FAIL TO IDENTIFY NERVE VITIM.

Relatives and friends of John Urbanak, who disappeared from his home at 1806 West street last week, failed to identify the body found in the river at 18th street Wednesday with a package tied to the neck. The body is still at the county morgue incriminated.

POLICE "FIXERS" DEALT BLOW BY COUNCIL BOARD

'Stenogs' Will Keep Tabs
on Cop Witnesses.

As a means of curbing police "fixers" and policemen whose memories fail them before the grand jury the council finance committee tentatively decided yesterday to put a shorthand reporter in each criminal branch of the Municipal court.

This action came as a result of charges made before the police committee on Wednesday that the case of Joseph Conallino, accused of having hundreds of pounds of dynamite for use in west side bombings, was "improperly handled" in Judge William R. Pender's court. The committee requested Pender, a Lundin-Thompson judge, to retry the case.

"If we had had a stenographer in Pender's court, we could put our finger on the persons to blame in the Conallino case," Chairman Steffen of the police committee told the finance committee members.

Ops 'Fixed,' Powers Charges.
"I have personal knowledge of cases where a policeman, whose testimony in the Municipal court resulted in the defendant's being held to the grand jury, told a different story or couldn't remember a thing about the case when he appeared before the grand jury," said Alderman Powers. "I know of five such cases. There is no doubt these witnesses were fixed."

"If we can stop police fixing it would be worth while if it costs $100,000," said Ald. Woodhull.

"An accurate transcript of the testimony would show why the cases against some defendants are nolle prossed while others are held to the grand jury, on the same testimony," said Ald. Schwartz. "and why policemen are present to testify against certain defendants, but are absent when other cases are called."

Members of the finance committee doffed their coats and vests as they tackled the job of piecing together the annual appropriation bill. One of the committee's first acts was to reduce by 50 per cent Controller Harding's request that Mayor Thompson's contingent fund be made $50,000 for the year 1921.

Chairman Wacker of the Chicago plan commission asked for an allowance of $50,000 for the year, but the committee cut the amount to $10,000, $14,000,000 for Fire Motors.

An appropriation of $1,400,000 for the complete motorization of the fire department was voted on the request of John F. Cullerton, business manager of the department. This sum will buy eighty-eight pieces of motor apparatus and make the department 100 per cent efficient from a motor standpoint, it is declared.

Members of the committee were surprised to learn that, though only $22,000 was appropriated for automobile hire for 1920, $35,350 was spent. Corporation Counsel Eitelson's automobile bill for the city law department for the year was $4,292; Mrs. Louise Osborne Rowe, commissioner of public welfare, spent $3,922 for the same purpose, but Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, topped the list with a bill of $15,176.

CHILD PRODIGY'S SOCIETY SATIRE STIRS ART CLUB

Girls, 12 and 13, Also Read Own Poems.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES.
Shakespeare was 39 before he wrote "Hamlet"; Father Time had scored 47 against Cervantes the year "Don Quixote" became a best seller; Dante had fifty-five candles on his birthday cake when he finished the "Divine Comedy"; at 59 Goethe had written "Faust," just Part One.

But the modern literary genius comes into the world with a student's lamp, a typewriter, and a catalogue of editors interested in the "works of infant prodigies."

So Marcia Masters at the erstwhile tender age of 12 has had time to write a novel and several volumes of poetry. She also had the leisure to give an author's reading yesterday afternoon before a meeting of the Junior Friends of Art at the Arts club.

Giggle; Then "So Bored."
The youngsters, Marcia and her 13-year-old sister, Madeleine, laughed, almost giggled, over it all until Miss Olga Mann, chairman of the organization, introduced them as "unusual children." The laugh changed to a smile vague and graciously bored.

One of the first poems which Marcia chose to read concluded: "But some people call me — imagine, a child!" And the exclamation point echoed through the room.

This Poem Stirs Applause.
The philosophy expressed in the following stanza won for the little poet great applause:

"We are very thankful for our loaves
As money we have not.
We rejoice in loving friends
And let our enemies rot."

Reads Sister's Social Satire.
Madeleine read Chapter 3 of Marcia's novel, "A Small Town Girl," a social satire so trenchant that more than one glove was twisted nervously during the performance.

For instance: "The Saturday social had been kept up for years on account of society. The richest women in the town kept it up. There were three of them. A new leader had just been added, the honorable Mrs. Pieferich, who was let in, not on account of being rich, because she wasn't, but she always knew about the latest thing that had happened in the town."

At the conclusion of the program, while tea was being served, the "unusual children" were discovered sliding across the polished floor "in the usual way."

Hearings on Rail Pleas to Cut Wages Concluded

Hearings before the United States railroad labor board on petitions of more than 150 railways to reduce wages were concluded yesterday. It is expected that a decision, probably within a few days, will authorize the petitioners to put into effect the 12 per cent reduction granted the 104 roads affected by the decision of last week.

CONSUMERS ASK SESSION HERE ON STEEL FREIGHT

The Federal Trade commission, already committed to a searching investigation of the "Pittsburgh plus" system, a trade practice which experts say is annually levying a tax of millions in illegitimate freight rates on steel, was invited last night to hold one or more of its sessions in Chicago.

The invitation was extended through a resolution adopted at a meeting of the Chicago Purchasing Agents' association in the Hotel Sherman. H. G. Pickering of Superior, Wis., general counsel for the Western Association of Rolled Steel Consumers, and W. L. Chandler of Mishawaka, Ind., president of the National Association of Purchasing Agents, addressed the meeting.

In an arrangement of the United States Steel corporation and "so-called independent steel companies," Mr. Pickering reiterated the charges he made on April 29 before the Dailey building graft committee.

"Pittsburgh plus," he said, "is the trade practice which fixes the price of rolled steel products except rails, and fixes it at Pittsburgh. As a consequence, the steel for consumption in Illinois, although it is manufactured in the city of Chicago and its environs, bears in addition to the market price the rate of $7.60 per ton freight from Pittsburgh."

FORMER BROKER DIES SUDDENLY.

CHARGES OF VOTE FRAUDS PILE UP; 400 MEN ACCUSED

With the names of more than 400 men charged with violation of election laws at Monday's judicial election already in his possession, and more complaints coming in every day, Col. John V. Clinkin, head of the fraud department of the Chicago Bar association, was busy yesterday preparing the cases preparatory to taking them before Attorney General Brundage.

Mr. Brundage will be asked to appoint a special prosecutor to try the fraud cases and a special grand jury to investigate them. The matter will be taken before him, the highest prosecutor in the state, as the Chicago

Bar association does not feel justice would be impartial if the matter were turned over to the state's attorney here.

Most of the frauds already reported to Col. Clinkin and his staff of lawyers consist of voting persons not entitled to the privilege. Cases were found in which the names of men dead, or for years moved from the precincts, were voted, some ballots were marked in the names of men out of the city and unable to vote, and placed in the ballot boxes in batches, and in some instances, ballots were placed in the boxes and clerks were unable to account for the names, the result being there were more ballots than voters.

"We expect to go to the bottom of this matter or know the reason why," Mr. Clinkin said yesterday. "Violations of the law at elections must be stopped in Chicago, and this is a good time to start."

"If a few election judges and clerks were sentenced to the penitentiary, it would have a wholesome effect on the others."

Prices realized on Swift & Company sales of carcasses beef in Chicago for week ending Saturday, June 4, on shipments sold out, ranged from 8.5 cents to 18 cents per pound and averaged 13.83 cents per pound.—Adv.

QUIZ ON EXPERTS IS DELAYED UNTIL LAWYER IS NAMED

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

It will be several days before the special council committee, appointed to investigate the expert fee system of Chicago, is ready to proceed. The first important preliminary task is the selection of an attorney.

To discuss that subject the committee—Ald. Schwartz, Woodhull, and Quinsey—met yesterday. They wanted to confer with the presidents of the Chicago Bar association and the Lawyers' association, both of whom were out of town. They are expected back today. The committee desires to discuss with them the ability, integrity, business, and political associations of several lawyers and get from the associations suggestions of suitable attorneys.

Sessions Will Be Executive.

Consequently the sessions of this committee will be properly executive on this preliminary work. Upon the lawyer will depend largely the success of the inquiry, according to one member of the committee.

After his selection probably a couple of days will be required to decide upon the plan, unless the committee strikes out hit or miss to get information. The payment of $2,742,000 to five experts has become so widely known that quick strikes would probably not surprise any one, and it is not likely that the committee will use that plan.

Will Take Up Every Phase.
At its brief session yesterday the committee announced that it is its purpose to develop every feature and phase of the expert system.

For example, the committee not only hopes to ascertain what the profits of the experts were, but to "find out whether any of those profits were distributed among political henchmen," as Ald. Schwartz put it. But their hopes and aims are of little value except as indicative of intentions and purposes.

CHECKER TAXI DRIVER ADMITS CAB WAR MURDER

gers at the Hotel Sherman must stand in line, and must come from the north.

Later he sent out the order to arrest all Checker drivers on the grounds they had no cab license.

Attorney Points to Politics.

Attorney Leonard J. Grossman, of the Checker concern, stated that under an ordinance passed in 1920 a number of chauffeurs who had not taken out cab stand licenses were arrested. But none was convicted.

Some time ago, he says, they held a conference with Chief Fitzmorris. The chief stated the matter would rest until after the judicial election.

"If this was a hint for the Checker chauffeurs to line up with the Thompson-Lundin outfit in the judicial campaign," he said, "we ignored it. As a company, and as individuals, we upheld the coalition candidates and gave them a dinner at which Judge Hugo

Friend was the principal speaker.

"This arresting our men now is a malicious abuse of legal process, done to embarrass us temporarily. But we were told we would be punished.

"The mayor and the chief are treating us unfairly. State's Attorney

Crows, through his assistant, Mr.

Stewart, has been most unfair," he said. "The council can prevent murder if it will."

Ald. Kostner believes the police could handle the situation better, by preventing such swarms of cabs from going around the hotel, and by limiting the cabs to the traffic demands.

$100,000 ROBBER GANG AND THREE LURES' ARRESTED

Confess 45 Burglaries,
...day.

EDWARD DARROW.

One of the most perfectly organized gangs of thieves with three beautiful girls, James, auto-mobile trucks, and garages, was broken up yesterday by the arrest of seven men and three women, the police say. The men are said to have confessed forty-five robberies in the last few weeks, involving a total of $100,000 worth of loot.

Five of the gang were surprised yesterday while in the act of looting the hardware store of Walter Rasmussen, 3159 Elston avenue. They had already carried out $15,000 worth of loot by tunneling through the walls of the store from an adjoining vacant store.

Women Are Found.
Detective Sergeant Patrick Alcock and his squad, composed of Paul R. Williams, Dennis Carroll, and Joseph Ferrone, captured the men by trailing Peter Clark, 2017 Wolfman street, from Belmont and Elston avenues, to the scene of the robbery. Those arrested were George Connell, 212 Ogden street; Edward Darrow, alias Ryan, 2188 Seminary avenue, and James Lyons, 2319 North Tallman avenue. A fifth man, Jack Loring, alias Mosley, escaped amid a shower of bullets. At detention home No. 1 Clark, said to be a business agent for the gang, is supposed to have named Betty O'Connell, alias Betty Connell, 214 Seminary avenue, as a lure.

At the Seminary avenue address, the police found Ruth Jefferson, alias Ruth Miller, and Marie O'Connell, sister of Betty. The trio were taken into custody while other officers rounded up John Chalippe, 1258 Cleveland avenue, and Edward Miller.

Egan's Squad Promoted.
In recognition of the capture of a robber gang Wednesday night by Detective Sergeant John Egan and his squad on the southwest side, in which John Jannocak was slain and two others wounded, Chief Fitzmorris yesterday promoted all the policemen.

Wanderer to Hang Friday, but Gene Geary Gets Stay.
Carl Wanderer, slayer of his wife and a "ragged stranger," will go to the gallows next Friday alone. Yesterday the supreme court denied his application for a rehearing and at the same time gave Gene Geary, who was scheduled to die with Wanderer, a new lease of life. A writ of superadeas was granted on the ground Chief Justice McDonald had erred in refusing to impose a jury to test Geary's sanity. This means a stay of execution will be granted, and it will probably be October before his case is decided. Wanderer merely smiled when told of the ruling against him.

ACTRESS SEEKS UNCLE HERE.
Miss Blanche Melburg, an actress of San Francisco, yesterday asked the police to find Edward Butler and his family. Butler is an uncle Miss Melburg has not seen for more than two years.

'YOU'RE DOCTORS, NOT BARTENDERS,' MEDICS WARNED

Boston, Mass., June 9.—[United News.]—The house of delegates of the American Medical association today passed a resolution to the effect that members of the medical profession should remember that they are physicians, not bartenders.

"Whereas," begins the resolution, "reproach has been brought on the medical profession by some members, who have misused the law which permits the prescribing of alcohol."

"Be it resolved, That the American Medical association announces its disapproval of a small minority of the profession being purveyors of alcoholic beverages."

This, it has explained, is meant to oppose the illegal prescribing of liquor, but not to deter a physician, who feels that the individual case requires it.

LANDIS TO PROBE LODGE ABOVE A 2D WARD CAFE

Ald. Robert R. Jackson, one of Thompson's Negro leaders in the Second ward, appeared yesterday before Judge Landis with a petition requesting the reopening of a building at 35th street and Calumet avenue which had been closed by the judge for violations of the dry law.

Mr. Jackson left somewhat hurriedly without being granted his request. He said he represented Negro Knights of Pythias, who at present occupy quarters above the Entertainers' cafe at 200 East 35th street, and wanted the other building for drill purposes.

When Judge Landis discovered the lodge was above the Entertainers' cafe, he ordered an investigation.

MEXICO ASKS U. S. TO MODIFY TREATY TERMS

Will Accept if Changes
Are Made.

Mexico City, June 9.—[By the Associated Press.]—Mexico is prepared to agree to the suggestions contained in the memorandum brought here from Washington by Charles d'Affaires Summerlin after certain modifications are made by the United States government, which it is confidently expected will be made, and the relations between the two nations doubtless will be most cordial, according to a statement made today by Secretary of Foreign Relations Pani to the publishers of the newspapers in Mexico City.

The modifications referred to pertain to amendments of the Mexican constitution which cannot be effected by presidential decree but must come as a result of action by the senate, the newspaper men were informed.

Oregon Asks Forbearance.
The publishers were shown all the communications which have passed between Washington and Mexico City, including President Obregon's latest answer to Secretary Hughes' note. The burden of Obregon's note was declared to be for forbearance on the part of the United States until its suggestions can be carried out in a legal manner.

One of the suggestions made in the American memorandum was for a claims commission, and, according to the information of the Associated Press correspondent, Senator Paul asserted that President Obregon readily had agreed on this point and that within a few days he would promulgate a decree authorizing the establishment of this commission as far as Mexico is concerned and also designate its personnel.

IMPOSE NEW OIL TAX.
Washington, D. C., June 9.—A new element was injected into the Mexican question today through formal protest to the state department by American oil operators against the 25 per cent increase in taxes on petroleum under a decree issued in Mexico since the present negotiations for the drawing of a treaty of amity and commerce were begun. In some circles the opinion was expressed that this situation might have to be faced before final adjustment could be made of the more basic question of diplomatic relations between the two governments.

Although uninformally official of the statement issued in Mexico City last night that President Obregon could not sign the proposed treaty as a condition of recognition, it was learned that publication of the statement occasioned no surprise here. It was intimated that Obregon's recent answer to the proposals was of a similar character.

HELEN MAY YELL, BUT JOHN'S DEAF; 3 WARS PLENTY

Washington, D. C., June 9.—[Special.]—John Cousonopoulos of Ishpeming, Mich., was a native of Greece when the first Balkan war started. He served throughout the conflict. When peace was declared he came to America. When the second Balkan war began, the Greek government beckoned and John Cousonopoulos sailed back across the sea and fought again.

When he was again discharged he went to Ishpeming, established a fruit store, took out citizenship papers, and became a full fledged American citizen.

Just about the time he got the penut roaster running in full blast, the United States decided to go to war with Germany. The draft law called Cousonopoulos. He did his bit in France uncomplainingly, but as soon as he was able to get demobilized he hastened back to the Ishpeming fruit store.

He left a sweetheart behind him in Greece. When the fruit store business began to prosper he decided the time had come to return to Greece and claim her as his bride.

A few days after he reached Athens the Greek army began mobilizing for war against Turkey and Cousonopoulos was caught in the draft once more. He wrote a letter to Representative James appealing to him for assistance. James laid the case before the state department today.

DANGER IN THE TARIFF BILL

Administrative sections of the permanent tariff bill drafted by the experts for the house ways and means committee contain certain provisions which we believe are a serious menace not only to business but to the American institution of a government of laws rather than of men.

The most important of these administrative provisions is that the President shall have authority to order the imposition of additional duties equal to the difference between the imported cost of merchandise and the price of similar articles made in this country. On the surface that may appear innocent enough, but in practice it will give the President power to change rates of duty as radically and frequently as he may see fit. It prepares the way for a never ending stream of representatives of special interests to the White House to have tariffs altered for their benefit.

There can be no stability of business under such an arrangement. An advantage which is given to one will be a disadvantage for another. All business will suffer sooner or later. With a fixed tariff, carefully arranged to allow trading with other countries as well as to protect those American industries which can reasonably ask protection, business will be able to adjust itself to its tasks for some years to come. Even if some minor lines of industry are handicapped they will not know the extent of that handicap and can work out their problems accordingly.

Even worse than the instability of business conditions which the proposal would bring, however, is the growing tendency of congress to delegate its powers and responsibilities to individuals or bureaus. Unwieldy and prone to error as it is, the congress of the United States is a more satisfactory medium of government than any bureaucracy. It at least can make laws under which all men are alike. It must not delegate its powers to any individual or any bureau which can make rules, however honest in intent, under which all men may not be alike.

The Capper-Tincher bill for regulation of the grain exchanges is another illustration of this tendency of congress to delegate its power to individuals. Under that bill the conduct of the grain exchanges throughout the country would be subject to the arbitrary rulings of the department of agriculture. It substitutes a government of men for our government of laws. That was not the purpose of the founders of this government. It should not prevail. The tendency as revealed in the proposed permanent tariff bill should be checked at once. The same tendency in the Capper-Tincher bill also should be repudiated.

A CONTINENT DIVIDED.

While the United States is crying for closer commercial relations and a clearer political and social understanding with South America, it is crying in a voice which the Latin Americans can not understand. South America is answering in a language equally unintelligible. Poor trade, political ill will, and social antipathies are a logical result.

The situation is made clear in an address by Julio Blanco, minister of Guatemala to the United States, before the Foreign Trade club at Baltimore. He describes it as a language barrier between the two great sections of our continent, which can be battered down only by increasing the use of English in Latin America and the use of Spanish in the United States. It is indeed a barrier, and one which the natural and cultivated self-sufficiency of Americans tends to increase rather than to remove.

Business men in this country are too much inclined to adopt a superior manner, telling Latin Americans that they must do business on our system or not at all. When they do not understand our system they are naturally inclined not to do business at all. An illustration is offered in American catalogues. A small order house, for instance, speaking business in South America, advertises stockings at from 25 cents to $2.50 a pair, and describing them, respectively, as "the best in the world," "no better at any price," "satisfaction warranted or money back," and "compare favorably with the most expensive."

The Latin American woman does not understand such advertising language. She probably wants to know whether the stockings are all silk, half silk, or lisle, and will throw away the American catalogue to buy from a French firm, which gives her that information. A mutual understanding of language, customs, and conditions would remove such difficulties either by changing the catalogues, broadening the viewpoint, or both.

Political and social ideas and ideals at present are equally far apart, primarily because of racial differences in character, and secondarily because these differences are maintained by differences in language. We look to South Americans to send their young men here to learn our language and customs, but we fail to get their point of view by sending men to their country for the same purpose. It is a grave error. It should be corrected by American business firms for their own sake. That eventually would be to the advantage of all our international relations, political and social, as well as commercial. If we fail to adopt such a course, European nations will retain and hold the trade which should be ours, and will at the same time profit by the best of Latin American culture in the development of political and social relations.

Dr. Bianchi suggests exchange of clerks between American and South American business houses as one means of achieving the end sought. This undoubtedly would help. More interest in the study of Spanish in American schools would also help. Other methods of improving relationships would appear if a proper start were made.

GAMBLING WITH LIFE AND HONOR.

Tuesday the senate voted for an army of 175,000. Wednesday it voted for an army of 160,000 men. That, of course, is politics, and peanut politics at that. If the senate were acting on deliberate judgment based on proper consideration of facts and expert opinion, it would not reverse itself so suddenly on so important a matter touching the national defense and the efficiency of the army.

It is the sort of thing that shakes confidence in the conscience and responsibility of our representatives. Legislation, we know, is often the football of personal politics, faction and party. But there ought to grow up in congress a principle of conduct, a standard, which should effectively protect so vital a duty as national defense. That is one thing that politics should hold sacred.

Army reduction is sought to be justified on the plea of economy. The nation asks economy. But to reduce the army below the minimum required to maintain adequate garrisons and an adequate skeleton for organization and training purposes is not economy but waste. It is a sordid speculation in economy with the nation's honor and safety.

We had hoped the senate would show character enough to stand out against ill-considered retrenchment in this field and support the considered advice of experts. Our recent experience is fresh enough and costly enough to have touched the conscience of the public and the congress. But it is being clouded by sophistry and the clamor of impractical minorities. This is a situation in which the country has a right to look to our representatives, and especially the conservative chamber, for a courageous insistence upon sound measures. It seems we are to be disappointed, and that is because the price paid in blood and treasure for past negligence has not been brought home to those directly responsible, the legislators and public leaders who prevented adequate defense maintenance in past years. History is repeating itself and the blunders are uncorrected.

THE FOURTH DISTRICT JUDICIAL ELECTION.

Preoccupation with the local battle in defense of the courts was responsible for lack of deep interest displayed by Chicagoans in the contest in the fourth judicial district. The district is strongly Republican, yet it has just reflected a Democrat, Mr. Justice Floyd M. Thompson, to his seat in the Supreme court.

This is a clean cut victory for the principle of nonpartisanship in the judiciary and for the principle of rewarding and retaining demonstrated fitness and experience in the courts. Although Justice Thompson had served only two years in the Supreme court, having been elected to fill a vacancy, he had proved his capacity and industry and the people of his district wisely ignored irrelevant party affiliation and insisted upon keeping him in the place he well filled.

There is no other way to sustain and insure the integrity and independence of our courts. The intelligent people of Cook county and of the fourth judicial district have shown they have no doubt of this, and propose to make certain that party politics shall be kept out of the administration of justice. There is no more encouraging evidence of civil intelligence and morale than this.

THE WIDOW'S MITE.

A widow with two children has just been allowed half a million dollars for the support of herself and two children for one year. She asserted that she needed $40,000 a month, but the court made it an even five hundred thousand.

Fifteen or eighteen years ago the fortune from which this annual sum is allowed was nonexistent, and we have a notion that its recipient may have been getting along on not $40,000 but $40 or $400 a month.

What are the necessities she and her children have acquired since then to the tune of forty thousand a month, the yearly return at 4 per cent of a million dollars?

How easy it is to develop expensive appetites and tastes which become "necessities." It does not take a dozen generations of wealth to accomplish the change, nor even a lifetime. A few years in our Aladdin land, the Genie rubs the lamp, and the housewife with her sleeves rolled up has become the bejeweled dame who cannot live on less than a thousand a day. Necessity, which once rolled up her sleeves, the next day rolls along in her Rolls-Royce.

Ain't nature wonderful—especially woman nature!

Editorial of the Day

"BIG BILL" BEATEN.

(Illinois State Register.)

That authority on gastronomics who uttered the warning with astounding inelegance of expression—"Don't bite off more than you can chew"—said a mouthful, if we may be pardoned an expression equally inelegant.

The warning seems not to have touched the sensibilities of that political gourmand, Mayor William Hale Thompson of Chicago, with whom many of us become so familiar as to rudely refer to him as "Big Bill."

Keen has been his appetite, tremendous has been his capacity, magnificent has been the banquet. He has gobbled offices in city, county, and state. Never anything like it in the political history of Illinois, and as a wondering people looked through the windows into the banquet hall where the gourmands feasted, they echoed in chorus: "How does he get away with it?"

There were music and flowers and all the trimmings. There upon the banquet table were the richly remunerative offices of the entire city of Chicago: fire and police departments beautifully garnished in blue; experts collecting millions in fees; the speakership of the house; members of the legislature and in the center of the table as the crowning triumph of it all, the governorship of Illinois as abundant and inviting as the big turkey at Thanksgiving day dinner.

But this did not suffice for winning William Hale. He craved for another political delicacy—the judiciary.

How could Lincoln let him be so foolish? Today he suffers for his overindulgence. He put up a ticket of city hall puppets for judges. Chicago, tolerant and generous Chicago, could stand it no more. Chicago revolted.

It smashed the windows to the banquet hall and sent "Big Bill" to the political hospital.

This sudden attack may be the beginning of the end of the ponderous personage who mayors Chicago. That he could have expected to do such a preposterous thing as to elect a bunch of small politicians to the Chicago judgeships passes all understanding.

It just shows that even astute politicians can't stand prosperity.

Today Chicago is singing "Good-by, Bill," and it echoes back from Cairo.

How to Keep Well.

By Dr. W. A. Evans.

Questions pertinent to hygiene, sanitation, and prevention of disease, if matters of general interest, will be answered in this column. Where space will not permit, or the subject is not suitable, letters will be personally answered subject to proper limitations, and where a stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease. Requests for such service cannot be answered.

In a desire to co-operate with the Chicago Infant Welfare society, a set of articles and letters dealing with infant care has been prepared. These are to run during Baby week and for a few days thereafter. One purpose of the arrangement is to get the public interested for a few days in the welfare of babies. Another is to bring to the attention of the public the merits of this society, one which is doing much to aid the health department in keeping the babies well and in training parents in mothercraft. The babies have never before had so fair a chance. The improvement must be progressive.

Boost for safety for babies!

SAFEGUARDING BABIES.

WHEN yearly announcement is made of the winners in the city contests for the lowest baby death rates it is found Minneapolis always holds an enviable place. Some attribute this to the large Scandinavian population; some to the cool summer, and some to the work done in baby care. The likelihood is that all three factors contribute. One of the things they do unusually well is to keep the babies from breast feeding.

This is their method. An infant welfare society, co-operating with the health department, the university, and the Public Health association, sees that every mother hears something about the advantages of breast feeding. As soon as a birth is recorded at the health department the name and address of the mother is sent to the society. The society sends out the following letter:

"Dear Madam—Summer will soon be here. It is especially important now for your baby to be kept upon the breast. There is much more danger for the bottle fed baby when the weather is hot. We wish to make sure again that you have no difficulty with breast feeding which can be prevented. We are therefore taking the liberty of sending you another card asking you to answer the following questions and return it to us."

The six questions on the card are: "Is your baby still breast fed?" "How often do you feed it?" "Does it receive the breast milk only?" "Are you having any difficulty nursing your baby?" "If so, what?" "If not, when and why did you stop?"

If the mother answers the first question, she is asked to return the card to the society. If she answers the second, she is asked to return the card to the society. If she answers the third, she is asked to return the card to the society. If she answers the fourth, she is asked to return the card to the society. If she answers the fifth, she is asked to return the card to the society. If she answers the sixth, she is asked to return the card to the society.

Yes, if you mean breast feed, that is all right if you are equal to it. In rare instances it has been done.

REPLY.

Do not feed her often than once every four hours. Do not feed her at night. In addition to the breast milk give her fruit juice and thin cereal gruel. After a little have her gnaw hard bread and meat bones. Later thicken the cereal gruel and give strained soups. She can take a little mashed potato. It is best to give her soup.

BRITAIN URGES FRANCE TO ALTER SILESIAN PLANS

Would Extend Area of Control Commission.

BULLETIN.

BY GEORGE SELDES.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
BERLIN, June 10.—The Upper Silesian insurrection is expected to end tonight. British forces have occupied the Kreuzberg, Rosenberg, Lublinitz, Tarnowitz, and Towos and are moving toward Beuthen, Kattowitz, and Koenigschuetz, which they are expected to capture today unless the Poles attack. Two battalions of Italians have formed a junction with the British right. Complete pacification of Silesia is expected in a few days.

LONDON, June 9.—[By the Associated Press.]—Great Britain now is urging on France the insufficiency of the neutral zone in Upper Silesia, and the necessity of reestablishment of the authority of the control commission throughout the entire area.

This would involve pushing back the Poles on an extensive front, which already has been begun by British forces, and of making a slight adjustment of the German line.

This proposed action against the Polish insurgents, it was stated today in official circles, is the logical sequence to the ultimatum sent to Germany demanding the halt and withdrawal of the troops of Gen. von Hofer, leader of the German defense forces. It was reported yesterday that Germany had acquiesced in this demand.

PARIS, June 9.—Heavy British reinforcements for Upper Silesia contingents are leaving the Cologne bridgehead area hourly today. An important number of light whippet tanks, air planes and field guns are included among the British supplies.

The material and troops are placed on special trains which are routed via Mayence and Frankfurt. In order to avoid traversing the Ruhr basin of passing near Berlin.

Germans as Guards.

German reichswehr officers and men in uniform are accompanying all trains which are run in convoys preceded by a locomotive and one car carrying allied and German officers to insure that the track is clear.

New drafts of English soldiers are arriving at Cologne to replace the troops departing for Upper Silesia.

The British action in reinforcing contingents already in the plebiscite zone and in sending large amounts of war munitions and material these causes belief that Prime Minister Lloyd George is preparing for a long period of occupation and intends to attempt and create a neutral zone in the disputed territory under control of the supreme council for a stated period of years and is now endeavoring to wipe out the French objections to this scheme which the Italians also frown upon.

The U. S. ROYAL CORD

A famous tire—a famous tread. Acknowledged among motorists and dealers alike as the world's foremost example of Cord tire building. Always delivering the same repeated economy, tire after tire, and season after season. The stripe around the side-wall is registered as a trademark in the U. S. Patent Office.

Big discounts befuddle no one except the man who talks them

MOST of the retail successes that we are proudest of in this country have been built up on the best standard merchandise at a fair price.

Today the truth of experience is making itself felt in the tire trade as in everything else.

The quality instinct in the American public is bearing weight.

As it always does.

On May 1st, 1921, there were 36% more dealers selling United States Royal Cord Tires than a year ago.

There might be a number of reasons why. Reputation. Demand. Quality. Square-dealing. Stable policy.

All these count of course. But of greater importance just now is the dealers' repudiation of "discount" methods of doing business.

These men are reading the public mind. They are no longer willing merely to sell "discounts"—"so much off on this tire, so much off on that."

They are selling a tire service—a tangible, par quality tire at a net price that more often than not delivers in excess of what is charged for it.

The leadership of the U. S. Royal Cord Tire cannot be explained on its physical qualities alone.

You cannot separate it from the policy behind it.

A policy insistent on quality first—on sound merchandising as against temporary appeal—on a reality of tire worth instead of an unreality of discount talk.

The outstanding reason, perhaps, why so many thousands of car owners measure all other tires by U. S. Royal Cords as the standard tire to go by.

GOVERNOR URGES SLASHING OF ALL APPROPRIATIONS

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Springfield, Ill., June 9.—[Special.]—Gov. Small tonight put the brakes on legislative appropriations. He issued a statement of warning to the general assembly. This statement was preceded by a session in the executive offices, called by Gov. Small, at which all of the department heads were requested to be present.

"This legislature is running wild on appropriations," Gov. Small said to his assistants. "You must cut to the bone the requirements of your departments or I will have to do it for you under the veto power."

Gov. Small in his conference with his assistants and in his statement given to the public asserted that the budget he came from Director Omar Wright was at the minimum. The Wright budget carries $31,000,000.

Wants $8,000,000 Cut.

The omnibus bill, however, introduced last night, stands at $39,000,000. Gov. Small in effect says that he will stand for the $8,000,000 difference.

Gov. Small's statement follows:

"In my inaugural address to the general assembly, I said: 'We should not forget that every dollar taken from the state treasury comes from the pockets of the taxpayers, most of whom have no right to a livelihood. These funds are trust funds and it is our duty, as elected officials, to guard against waste and extravagance in the expenditure of the people's money. I trust that the general assembly will exercise care in making appropriations, and I believe you will. I, on my part, shall endeavor to see that every dollar appropriated will secure a dollar's worth of service."

Economy Is Demanded.

"I called directors and division heads together today for the purpose of reiterating that statement and I urged most emphatically that they do everything in their power to keep demands for operating expenses of the state to the lowest possible minimum. I believe the people expect the same economy from the general assembly."

"The general assembly is being asked for a $20,000,000 a year school distribution fund. Two years ago it was but $6,000,000. The senate has scaled the proposed appropriation for the full appropriation of $20,000,000. And on all sides, from practically all boards and classes supported by the taxpayer, comes the demand for greatly increased additional appropriations."

"A halt must be called. There is a limit to the amount of taxes the people can pay. Economy must be practiced. The taxpayer must be protected. Economic conditions not only warrant, but demand retrenchment."

The omnibus bill, as introduced in the house today by Chairman Edward J. Smekal, shows the following increases over the 1919 appropriation:

State distributive school fund... $4,000,000
Interest and retirement of highway and war bonds... 3,000,000
Secretary of state... 475,000
Auditor of public accounts... 258,000
State treasurer... 35,000
Attorney general... 135,000
Department of agriculture... 425,000
Department of labor... 258,000
Printing and stationery for all departments... 178,000
Department of public welfare... 140,000
Department of health... 300,000
Department of trade and commerce... 300,000
Department of registration and education... 160,000
Adjutant general... 490,000

An appropriation of $62,500 is made in the bill, to be used for the administration of the soldiers' bonus act, which is subject to a referendum.

An appropriation of $450,000 is made for permanent improvements on the Illinois state fair grounds at Springfield, provided the state is given a title in fee simple to the grounds by Bangsman county.

BRITAIN REVEALS SOVIET PLAN TO RECOGNIZE ERIN

LONDON, June 9.—[By the Associated Press.]—The government issued today a "white paper" this afternoon the text of what purports to be the draft of a proposed treaty between the Russian soviet government and "the republic of Ireland," which the government states was captured in Dublin.

A covering letter it was stated, captured at the same time, signed "Dermot O'Hagerty," described in the white paper as one of the Irish republican parliament's secretaries, was addressed to Desmond Fitzgerald, Sinn Fein minister of propaganda. This letter is dated June 15, 1920.

American on Mission.

A memorandum also accompanied the document, the government states. This was alleged to have been written by Dr. McCarrian. This memorandum is quoted as saying:

"The understanding at present is I shall be in charge of the mission and John T. Ryan of Buffalo will be another member."

According to the intercepted documents, the government adds, this mission was to have been sent to Russia to further the mutual interests comprehended under the treaty.

The preamble of the alleged treaty is quoted as saying:

"Desirous of promoting peaceful and friendly relations between all nations, especially the peoples of Ireland and Russia, and striving to cooperate in the interests and advancement of the human race and for the liberation of all people from imperialistic exploitation and oppression; the governments of the Russian socialist federal soviet republic and the republic of Ireland agree as follows:

What Treaty Would Provide.

The fifteen articles of the purported treaty include pledges of the "resources and influences" of the two governments to promote the recognition and sovereignty of each other by the nations of the world; their efforts to prevent the transportation of arms, munitions and military supplies for use against either country, and a number of commercial clauses.

Both parties declare in favor of universal disarmament and the foundation of some kind of a league of nations for compulsory arbitration of international disputes.

The duration of the treaty proposed in the document is a period of ten years.

Remarkable tribute to Stearns-Knight cars

While visiting this country recently, Mr. Knight purchased a Stearns-Knight touring car which he shipped to Europe to be used as a model for foreign cars.

Most leading European automobiles are "Silent Knight" motored. While the Knight engine is an American's invention, the great Continental factories were first to grasp its marvelous principle. After Europe had demonstrated success, Knight motors came into their own at home.

BUILDING CHIEF OPPOSES STRIKES ON JURISDICTION

voted are Tom Flynn and William Schardt, business agents of the Carpenters' union, and Frank "Doc" Curran and Arthur Wallace, business agents of the painters' union. Curran, who was previously indicted, was re-indicted on two counts, making three true bills in all against him.

Atlantic Hotel Graft.

O'Donnell, Schardt and Curran are accused of having divided up $2,500 graft collected from the owners of the Atlantic hotel in August, 1919. The hotel was being remodeled at that time. O'Donnell is said to have received the money to settle a jurisdictional dispute and to have paid part of the money to the other two.

Kearney, Flynn, Wallace and Curran were indicted in connection with a payment of $1,300 to settle a labor dispute which tied up construction work on the Biltmore theater. The labor agents, it is said, demanded $2,500 at first and later reduced their demands to $1,500. Morris Choyinski, brother of Joe Choyinski, veteran heavyweight prize fighter, is said to have acted as go-between and it was through his efforts that the matter was settled through the payment of only $1,300.

Webster Hotel Case.

Another indictment against O'Donnell probably will be voted today as the statute of limitations is about to expire on a payment of $4,000 said to have been collected by him on Dec. 10, 1919, to settle a strike on the Webster hotel. It was expected that another true bill would be voted against Kearney in connection with $15,000 "strike insurance" said to have been collected by him from Nathan Ascher on the Roosevelt theater. As far as could be learned, however, this evidence was not presented yesterday.

J. Rakllos, owner of a chain of restaurants, who testified to one "shake-down" of $500 before the Dailey committee, was one of the witnesses who went before the jurors during the day. An attorney representing a member of the steamfitters' union—said to be one of those under federal indictment—conferred with Assistant State's Attorney George E. Gorman in charge of the grand jury. He asked if his client would be assured of immunity if he came in and told all he knew.

"Get that man in here," Mr. Gorman ordered. "I'm told he can give us the information we want. This immunity matter can be discussed later."

Going After Brick Trust.

Despite the fact that the federal grand jury intends to investigate the brick combine for boosting the price from $4 to $16 a thousand, Mr. Gorman announced the state body would not discontinue its inquiry along this line. William F. Schickel, president of the Illinois Brick company and manager of the Associated Builders, will be one of the witnesses.

Oliver E. Pagan, federal indictment expert, and Assistant Attorney General George Strong arrived from Washington to assist Assistant Attorney General Thomas Howe in the building and price fixing inquiries.

Will Quiz Sproul.

Attorney Joseph B. Fleming, counsel for the Dailey committee, spent all day yesterday preparing for today's and tomorrow's hearings, at which sensational evidence is predicted. Among the first witnesses expected to be called this morning will be Congressman Elliott W. Sproul, head of the E. W. Sproul company, contractor. Despite his denials that his company has paid out graft money, the committee is said to be in possession of evidence which points otherwise.

Other important witnesses expected to be called today and tomorrow are John Griffiths, Charles Fox of Marshall & Fox, architects; Donald McKenzie, chief engineer for Swift & Co.; Robert E. Clark, chief engineer for Armour & Co.; Hugo Goetz, owner of the Goetz apartments; and Joseph Byfield, owner of the Hotel Sherman.

U. S. WARTIME ACT USED TO HOLD 4 SAFELOWERS

Federal warrants charging the possession of explosives in violation of the wartime defense of the nation act were issued yesterday against four safeblowers, arrested by the police as they were in the act of blowing a safe in the Postal Telegraph building. The action was taken at the instigation of Henry Barret Chamberlin, operating director of the Chicago crime commission.

"This quartet, with Charles Reiser at its head, is the most dangerous in the city," he said. "It would be a crime to allow them to escape by forfeiting their bonds should they be able to make bail. There has not been a safe blown since this gang was arrested and that condition will exist as long as they are in jail."

Reiser is now held under $100,000 bonds and the others under $50,000.

Fatigue— woman's greatest enemy today

Modern life is placing a constantly increasing tax on every woman's energy

ALL day long demands are being made upon every woman's strength. Whether it is the wearing routine of household duties—the exacting pressure of business affairs—or a long round of social engagements—modern life is placing a constantly increasing tax on her energy.

Those who have made a study of fatigue say that when a woman is tired all her faculties are affected.

"A chronically tired woman," says Dr. A. M. Galbraith, former attending physician of the Neurological Department, New York Hospital, "loses all her personal vigor, force, aggressiveness and above all her will power. No fatigued individual can be at her best."

Fatigue is not, therefore, merely wearying, uncomfortable; it actually destroys poise, charm, attractiveness.

Are you needlessly wasting your energy? Science shows that one of the greatest causes of fatigue is needless waste of energy. To keep up your pace in the race for success, whether you are a man or woman, whether you are in business life or in society, you must eliminate unnecessary fatigue.

One of the greatest causes of fatigue to-day comes from pounding hard heels on still harder pavements. With old-fashioned leather heels or ordinary "dead" rubber heels every step you take acts as a hammer blow to the delicate nervous system.

If you are a person of average activity, you take 8,000 steps a day—suffer 8,000 jolts and jars.

You can eliminate this great source of fatigue. O'Sullivan's Heels absorb the shocks that tire you out.

To secure the resiliency, the springiness of O'Sullivan's Heels, the highest grades of rubber are blended by special formula. With this blend of live, springy rubber are "compounded" the best toughening agents known. The compound is then "cured" or baked under high pressure.

This is why O'Sullivan's Heels absorb the jolts and jars of walking. The same process that makes O'Sullivan's Heels resilient gives them their great durability. O'Sullivan's Heels will outlast three pairs of leather heels—they often outlast two pairs of ordinary rubber heels.

Stop pounding away your energy. Go to your shoe repairer to-day and have O'Sullivan's Heels put on your shoes. Insist on getting O'Sullivan's!

14 Day Sea Trip on the Placid Waters of St. Lawrence River and Gulf

LL the fascination of an ocean voyage—without its monotony or discomfort.

A boat trip of a thousand miles through Lower St. Lawrence and Gulf of St. Lawrence. From Montreal and Quebec to St. John's, Newfoundland—the modern Steamship "Manoa" (6,000 tons displacement) passes down the picturesque Gaspé Coast—giving a "close-up" view of the impressive Perce Rock—a huge mass of red sandstone pierced by the curious apertures from which its name is derived—majestic, beautiful—its inaccessible crags the home of myriads of beautiful sea birds.

A CRUISE IN COOL LATITUDES

The heat and dust of cities are left far behind—you enjoy the tonic qualities of bracing sea air—plus the comfort of de luxe stateroom accommodation, including parlor rooms with bath en suite.

The "Manoa" touches at Gaspé and at Charlottetown—and docks for three days at St. John's to permit of visiting the many points of interest in Newfoundland. Cruises commencing at Montreal. First cruise leaves June 28—other cruises at intervals of three weeks throughout the summer.

GIRL PUT OUT OF MYSTERY HOUSE ON SOUTH SIDE

Queer Doings in Hyde Pk.
Baffle Police.

What is believed by the police to be a house of mystery was discovered last night in the heart of the Hyde Park district, not far from the residence of Chief of Police Fitzmorris.

Operator William Golden of the Hyde Park station late in the evening answered the emergency call telephone. A woman was on the wire. She said her name was "Miss Johnson," and that she was a public stenographer in the loop. She said that for several days she had done work for a woman who said her name was Mrs. Cora A. Butler of 514 Hyde Park boulevard.

Mrs. Butler had asked her to come out and visit her some evening, Miss Johnson said. She said that last night she went over to the address and rang the bell and was admitted by a large Negro in livery. As soon as the door was closed, she said, the Negro seized her and attempted to drag her to a room in the rear of the house where several persons were congregated.

"Put her out," Woman Orders.
She started screaming and the woman Miss Johnson said she knew as Mrs. Butler hurried in.
"Put her out," Miss Johnson says the woman ordered. She has the whole neighborhood in here."

The Negro released her and Miss Johnson ran to the street. She then called the police. She refused to tell where she was calling from.

The patrol wagon, loaded with police, rushed to the address given. The police surrounded the place and gained entrance. No "large Negro" could be found and no one by the name of Mrs. Butler was known. After a search of the house the police left.

But one of the officers was not quite contented with the investigation and remained behind. He hid in the yard.

An hour or so later the figure of a large man was silhouetted in the glass in the door.
Secret Doors in House?
Detective Sergeant John McCambridge, the officer, charged the front door and was let in by a woman in a black gown. He searched the place again, but could find no trace of the man. As he would pass from room to room he would hear mysterious noises as if some secret door were being opened and closed.
He asked for Mrs. Butler and to his surprise the woman immediately made her appearance, from where the officer could not tell. It was plain that the house had several secret entrances and exits, and the police intend to investigate it more thoroughly.

18 KNOWN DEAD TOLL OF FLOOD ABOUT LA JUNTA

127 Listed as Missing in Pueblo.

Pueblo, Colo., June 9.—Eighteen persons are known to have been killed in the flood in the La Junta district, according to Capt. J. B. Mock of the Colorado national guard, who arrived here today after a fifty hour battle against the elements.

The chapter of the Red Cross which is in charge of relief work in the flood district in Pueblo has issued a list of missing persons, containing 127 names. The list was compiled from the inquiries made at the relief headquarters in the courthouse building.

Capt. Mock estimated the property damage in the La Junta district at from $500,000 to $1,000,000. La Junta itself is not flooded, Capt. Mock said.

Refugee Camp for 20,000.

The first unit of the huge refugee camp being organized here is now in operation under supervision of the Salvation Army. The camp will have a capacity of 20,000. There are 1,000 persons in the Salvation Army unit. Homer T. Seale, adjutant, announced, and 1,500 more persons are expected today. It is possible the camp may serve as a temporary shelter for the entire flooded area as well as for Pueblo.

An announcement of disease conditions following the flood was made today by Dr. John C. Cornell of the United States public health service headquarters. There are 53 cases of diphtheria, of which 34 are quarantined. Scarlet fever cases number 4. There are 2 cases of typhoid fever, 5 of smallpox, and 10 of chickenpox.

The flood wreckage at Pueblo will be cleaned up by members of the American Legion. An organization for that purpose was completed last night and Capt. Van Law of Pueblo was placed in charge. The Legion men will have from 2,000 to 3,000 men at work this week, it was predicted.

Subsides at Denver.

Denver, Colo., June 9.—The South Platte river reached its crest in Denver at midnight last night. After flooding for four days two square miles of Denver's lowlands on the west side and inundating farming sections along its course through northern and northeastern Colorado, the flood waters have begun a gradual descent.

CHICAGO GIRL VICTIM.

Miss Loretta Griffin, 17, member of a vaudeville troupe on a western circuit, is the first Chicago victim identified in the Pueblo flood disaster, according to telegraphic dispatches received yesterday. Miss Griffin, who lives at 740 West 62d street, was trapped in a railroad coach with her father, Gerald Griffin, when the train was wrecked by the flood. Griffin is still missing.

Establishment of an information service for relatives and friends of Pueblo sufferers in Chicago and other cities within the jurisdiction of the central division of the Red Cross was announced yesterday by Walter Davidson, manager of the headquarters at 304 North Michigan avenue.

Reductions in All the Women's and Misses' Apparel Sections

THE further reductions taken on all Apparel in the Women's and Misses' Sections mean a wonderful opportunity to those who appreciate the value of thrift and who recognize that its worth lies only in purchasing reliable qualities and lasting styles.

The merchandise is that left from the season's selling, broken assortments for the most part, and also pieces used for display purposes. Materials and models are all those which called for much higher prices earlier in the season.

Those who are planning Summer vacations will find here, at considerable savings, many attractive models to augment their Summer wardrobes in the types of things that are the most practical and useful.

Women's Wraps, $25, $37.50, $57.50 up

A Large Collection Radically Reduced

THIS important semiannual reduction presents an assortment which for variety and quality could hardly be excelled. Coats, Wraps and Capes of the styles and materials which have proved the season's favorites are included. For those preparing for Summer outings or vacations this announcement should be of unusual interest.

Women's Wraps, Sixth Floor, North, State.

Women's Suits Radically Reduced

WOOL as low as $35. Silk as low as $22.50. The reductions taken in this Section include almost the entire stock and offer values which are, in some cases, very extraordinary. There are Suits of tricotine, serge, twills and novelty materials, in some light colors and also navy and black. Many of them are handsomely embroidered or trimmed. There are even some three-piece models included. Silk Suits are of taffeta and Canton crepe.

Women's Suits, Sixth Floor, South, State.

Misses' Suits $22.50, $35 up

THESE are Suits which will prove useful during the entire season, as they are of tricotine, serge and tricotina, also many of novelty materials. All are well-tailored and of youthful and fashionable styles.

Sixth Floor, North, State.

Women's Silk and Cotton Blouses

A NUMBER of attractive Blouses, of the darker colors appropriate to wear with suits of crepe, Georgette, chiffon and silks, reduced to $7.50. Cotton Blouses reduced to $2.75.

These include Blouses of fine voile, some with embroidery and lace.

Wool Jersey Smocks, some with smart wool embroidery at $5.

Women's Blouses, Sixth Floor, Middle, State.

Women's Skirts

'1921 REWARDS FIGHTERS' CRY GETS BUSINESS

Tribune Ad Men Show the Crepe Hangers Wrong.

1921 Will Reward FIGHTERS

The Tribune has changed its slogan for business and industry as shown above. The rallying cry hung out last Christmas by the advertising experts has been revised to fit results. It was an economic prophecy. It is now the register of a performing act.

The real goods to show that, despite the slump, 1921 is actually rewarding fighters who sail in for business with courage and enterprise, were displayed yesterday at the semi-annual convention of THE TRIBUNE'S advertising forces.

Back in December the staff, with service to the public as its watchword, started to tell the world that the crepe hangers and croakings, the glooms and the glooms were all wrong, and that in 1921, despite the uncertainties and sag of the readjustment period, business would be good for those who make it good. A few chapters from the record of the last five months show how this economic theory has rung the bell.

Tribune's Fighters Land Business.

As a starter without joining the horn blowers, the meeting developed that night in THE TRIBUNE'S own quarters, where the fighters for business are landing it. A few examples of the vital truth in the slogan:

Average circulation of THE TRIBUNE:	May, 1921	May, 1920
Daily	818,711	728,489
Sunday	218,711	198,489
Gain	66,220	85,244

Again, in display advertising, THE TRIBUNE, in the first five months of 1921, registered a gain over the same period of 1919 of $104,877 compared with over the first five months of 1920, when business and industry were hitting the peak, a gain of 274 columns was made.

For hard boiled pessimists, who insist on keeping the corners of their mouths turned down and on chanting "business is rotten," the experts picked out a few lines which all the croakers said were terribly depressed, and went out to see how unfettered fighters were faring. It was found that real business, without exception, were doing the biggest business in their history.

Some instances of "Go Get It." Here are a few instances showing how "1921 Is Rewarding Fighters" hits the bullseye—they have a deep bearing upon the psychology of the national business situation and upon the fundamental problems confronting producers and consumers in the present period:

Lyons & Healy, instead of curbing up when the slump came, adopted the fighting slogan. Ever since Nov. 4, 1914, it has been a large Tribune advertiser. When hard times for the musical instrument business began to threaten, it reduced prices, assembled an unprecedented stock of merchandise, and advertised more heavily than ever before, most of it being devoted to pianos.

Result: In 1921 the retail piano department has shown an increase of 15 per cent in sales over the same period of 1920, when everybody was buying everything. Because of cut prices, this meant the sale of almost a quarter more pianos than last year. Instead of a slump, the piano department has shown the greatest volume of business in more than half a century. Ponder that.

Clothing Firm's Big Business.

Another sample: Maurice L. Rothschild, the largest advertiser of men's clothing in THE TRIBUNE. During 1921, instead of retrenching, he took the slogan and advanced. He early unloaded his old stock at slashed prices, replaced his goods at falling prices; got adjusted for the lower levels, kept his entire plant running and his organization intact, and then hammered home his story to the public in THE TRIBUNE'S advertising columns.

Result: His sales for the first quarter of 1921 were 21 per cent ahead of the same period of 1920, while in volume of goods sold the gain was far greater because prices were much lower.

When Every other possible channel seemed blocked by death, Michael Duveen unearths this absorbing mystery through the track of character.

THE 3 DEAD MEN By Eden Phillpotts

A BLUE RIBBON story in Sunday's Tribune

WED? NOT YET!

$38,000,000 Heiress, Who Denies Reputed Engagement, and Her Sister.

Della Angell (at right) and her sister Roberta.

MARRY? How perfectly thrilling! But that's not to be thought of this week, because there's a party, and a high school graduation, and all kinds of exciting things. Well, maybe, some day. All women do. But not now.

That's the way Della Angell, pretty 18-year-old heiress to the $38,000,000 fortune of the late John W. Gates, yesterday quieted the rumor that she was to be married to C. Wilson Campbell of Pasadena, Cal. Both Della and Campbell are at St. Charles, Ill., to attend the high school graduation. Both were students there.

"My people all think C. Wilson's grand," said the young heiress, "but, really, I haven't thought of marriage. I'm young, you see. I'm going back to school in the fall."

prices, sales in Chicago for the first quarter of 1921 totaled $136,018, as against $101,782 in the same period of 1920, when business was going full blast, and also the company landed fifteen new "full line" dealers.

Instances were multiplied where business was inspired, and stagnation overcome through THE TRIBUNE'S slogan, theory, and service. The Calumet Baking Powder company in twelve weeks this year sold $1,909,900 worth of goods in Tribune territory, as against $1,593,000 in the same three months in 1920—a growth of $316,900.

Frank Sanders, Chicago distributor of the Franklin car, went after business harder than ever when the sag came. Where others cut down on advertising he increased his copy, and in the first quarter of 1921 his business increased $163,678 over the former year. Similarly the Studebaker organization, instead of resigning itself to a "lean year," as was once begun to battle harder than ever, and in four months got $250,000 more business than in the same period last year.

CHIEF'S GARDEN NEEDS A HOEING; BANDITS CAN WAIT

Now, out in Posen, Ill., the radishes and cucumbers are calling, and such things as the capture of bandits don't interest the chief of police a bit.

The Chicago police found this out last night, when, after obtaining a confession from George Kehoe, 617 West 57th street, that he and three other men had held up the Roamer inn several weeks ago, they became all excited and called the chief.

His Golden Car NABBED, NEGRO PONZI GIVES UP

Where Dr. Elbert P. Robinson's $10,000 went, doc was sure to go, thought United States deputy marshal Sam Howard. So Howard confiscated the car after it and a friend had been attacked while trying to serve a bankruptcy subpoena on Robinson. Robinson, called the Negro Ponzi, claims his car is trimmed in gold. He surrendered yesterday and he was held in $10,000 bonds on charges of inciting a riot, resisting arrest, and threatening a citizen. Three others were held on the same charges in $5,000 bonds each.

FIFTEEN FUNERAL TRUST OFFICERS FACE INDICTMENT

Bomb and Plot Charges Are Revealed.

Announcement that he would ask conspiracy indictments against fifteen officers and directors of Chicago's alleged "funeral trust" when the grand jury convened this morning was made last night by Assistant State's Attorney James E. McShane.

The proposed trust bills will charge conspiracy to boycott and blacklist independent livemen and undertakers; conspiracy to do an illegal act injurious to the public trade by fixing prices, and probably conspiracy to use explosives in violation of the law.

Practices of the organization were characterized by Attorney McShane as the most atrocious and outrageous of any he had ever investigated.

"It is a clean cut case of an organization maintaining exorbitant prices by boycotting nonmembers and compelling them to charge the profiteering prices set monthly by the association," he said. "They would stop at nothing to gain their ends."

These Men Accused.

The prosecutor said he would present evidence against the following, all but one of whom are members of the Chicago Motor Livemen's association, the alleged trust:

FREDERICK JOHNS, president, 2511 69th street; George Hickey, 7841 South Halsted street; Nate Jacobs, 1639 Insurance Exchange building; R. K. Balentine, 671 West 64th street, and J. B. Marzano, 331 West Polk street.

Hartig Makes Confession.

First tangible information that the trust was in existence was obtained through the confession of Hartig. He admitted that in one instance dynamite had been used to enforce the demands of the organization. A bomb was thrown at the undertaking parlor of Weinstein & Niemann.

Charges which witnesses subpoenaed yesterday are expected to support, include:

The organization arbitrarily fixed prices for funerals, with a minimum of $16.25 a car and a maximum of $20. Fines ranging from $50 to $500 were assessed against members who failed to exact the association prices or who worked on funerals where independent or person blacklisted took part.

A blacklist of delinquent undertakers and livemen was mailed monthly for the guidance of members. Membership fees were fixed at $50 for active members and $100 for associate members.

250,000 LETTERS ASK SUPPORT OF FIREMEN'S FUND

The firemen's drive to increase the reserve fund of the Firemen's Mutual Aid and Benefit association began yesterday with the mailing of 250,000 letters to Chicago business men by John F. Cullerton, president of the association and business manager of the fire department.

The drive is being made through the sale of tickets to be played in Chicago Aug. 10, 11, and 12 at the Cubs and Sox parks between the New York and Chicago departments.

"The death rate among Chicago firemen has more than doubled in the last ten years," Mr. Cullerton said, "and widows and orphans of firemen must depend on the Firemen's Mutual Aid for insurance, for the nature of a fireman's work precludes his taking ordinary insurance."

Checks for tickets should be made payable to the association in care of City Treasurer Clayton F. Smith. The fund drive was authorized by the city council.

SALLIE ASKS WALT'S ADVICE.—XII

Not many persons would have picked Walt for an adviser—not from a large field, at any rate. But Sallie's field was small, and her need was urgent. She scribbled a note, and watched her opportunity to slip it into Walt's hand next morning. "Could I see you for a little talk—very private—anywhere away from here—soon?" the note read.

Walt scanned it when he could, unobserved. Then he penciled a reply on the back of it. "How about luncheon, Della Robbia room, one o'clock?" This he slipped into Sallie's lap at the breakfast table. Sallie glanced down at it, looked over at him, and nodded.

Mrs. Baird was in bed, with a severe headache, and was asked not to be disturbed, so there was no one to ask Sallie where she was going. Linda wanted to, but did not quite dare.

"Will you be home for lunch?" she asked. "No," Sallie answered, and vouchsafed nothing. "Then I'll stay, in case mother needs any care."

"Where you going out?" "Well, I had expected to; but it doesn't matter."

"If ever," thought Sallie, desperately, "I could break away, by myself, for an hour, without feeling like a culprit!" But to Linda she said, "I'm sorry, but I have an engagement."

Linda suspected that the engagement was with Jim, and her face had the resentful expression it always wore when she thought of his engagements on the family peace.

Not once, in the ten years that he had been more or less a member of her household, had Sallie talked with Walt in an intimate way. She knew practically nothing at all of his feelings, his principles, his desires.

He was a salesman for a New York book publishing house, and his territory lay west of Chicago, as far as the coast. He was on the road much more of his time than he was in New York. Mrs. Baird suspected that they did not know just how much time he spent in New York, but whether Linda believed this or not, Sallie did not know.

Jody adored his father, and Walt seemed fond of his son. She got to the Della Robbia room before Walt; and, as she waited for him, grew more and more self-conscious, half amused by this situation and half panic-stricken by it.

Walt knew nothing of her problem, and but little about her. Wasn't it strange to her, asking this clandestine meeting with him to get his counsel?

"I wonder," Sallie pondered, "if there is something radically wrong with me, to make me act this way?" Walt was a little late and apologetic, but otherwise quite casual in manner as if it were the most natural thing in the world that Sallie should be there, and even that she should have arranged the meeting as she did. This was a triumph of kindness on Walt's part.

"I call this a nice party," he said, amiably, when they were seated at their table. "I hope you want to eat something festive, Sister Sal!"

"I'm not hungry—anything will do—it was a disgrace to talk I wanted, and not to eat, and this was the only way I could think of," Sallie answered.

"That's all right; you can talk as well between bites of broiled lobster, for instance, as between bites of corned beef or scrambled eggs. So, come on, now! How about a cup of consommé? Or some Cherrystones, or Cutouts? No? Well, then, lobster? Sweetbreads?"

"You order, please!" Sallie pleaded. "My mind just doesn't run to food today."

So Walt ordered, and when the waiter was gone they settled down to talk.

"You must wonder—" Sallie began, nervously. "Not a bit in the world," said Walt, almost convincingly. "Why shouldn't you treat me like a brother?"

"Of course, but I've been so, so long beginning."

"Then make up for lost time. Fire away, child. There's a lot you won't need to explain."

So Sallie began, and, sketching rapidly, laid the situation before him.

"Well," said Walt, when she paused for him to say something, "it certainly has a lot of angles."

"It certainly has," she sighed.

"How do you feel about it yourself?" he asked. "Suppose you didn't have mother or any folks to think about, what do you guess you'd do?"

"I'd never go three thousand miles away from Jim!"

"Then why doesn't that settle it? They pleased themselves, or tried to. Why haven't you the same right?"

"Mother says she didn't please herself—she tried to do as her mother thought she should."

"And regretted it?"

"Yes."

"Then suppose you do as you think you should? You can't do any more than that, regret it?"

Sallie shook her head.

"It doesn't seem to be made that way," she said. "And besides, I don't think it's a good basis for happiness—being selfish."

"How about doing as Jim thinks you should, then?"

"Mother says a man's decisions are always in his own interest; she says they never consider anything but their own desires."

Walt's face reddened, but he kept his tone cool.

"I'd use a grain of salt with that, Sallie, dear. Mother doesn't believe it, but that doesn't make it true. If she could be in my boots for a while, knocking around the country, she'd find that a lot of men—maybe most men—believe that women are selfish. I dare say we're all selfish, and that lots of us can be unselfish, too, when it's required of us in the right way. Now, there's this to think of: Do you ever doubt that you could make Jim happy—not for a month or a year, but year in and year out?"

"No, I don't. Why?"

"Well, you see, there are women who have that knack, I guess, and women who haven't. I've seen a lot of women make a pretty good 'go' of marriage with fellows that I'm sure are lots more difficult to live with than I am—"

Walt's voice hadn't the suspicion of a quaver; he was not looking for pity, nor was he indulging in self-pity; but the simple statement, made to help her, wrung Sallie's heart. She knew better, though, than to offer commiseration; it would have hurt Walt if he thought she suspected him of seeking it.

"I know," she said, "Linda hasn't the gift or knack; and I suppose mother didn't have it, either. Maybe I haven't it. Is that what you mean?"

"That's it," agreed Walt, "how can you? And if Jim, knowing the situation, is willing to take the chance—"

Sallie's face clouded.

"That's the rub," she cried. "I can't take the chance for myself alone. I think if I could do that I could be same for whatever came of it. But whichever way I take I have to make others risk it with me."

"That's life," Walt commented philosophically. "I wish I knew what to tell you, Sallie; but I don't feel qualified. I think you're a bit warped, my dear. Mother and Linda are much alike, and you live mostly in the atmosphere they create. I'm not saying anything against it, except that it—well, lacks variety. I could tell you other points of view, and I'm sure Jim could, too. I don't know just how he looks at this—"

"Why not talk to him?" Sallie suggested, "and find out."

"That's right! Maybe it's my plain duty—as you haven't a father."

Sallie leaned toward him, excitement making her eyes dark and bright.

"Walt," she said tremulously, "I've done what may be an unwise thing. I've written to my father and asked if I couldn't see him."

EDDIE M'BRIDE ESCAPES ON WAY TO SAN QUENTIN

Chicago Gunman Eludes Guards at Los Angeles.

Eddie McBride, gunman, burglar, and one time bosom companion of Edward Morris, convicted slayer of Policeman John Mulligan, is not serving time at San Quentin penitentiary.

Chief of Detectives Michael Hughes was notified yesterday by California authorities that McBride, who was being taken back to San Quentin to serve out seven years of a ten year term for robbery with a gun, had eluded his guard at Los Angeles. McBride leaped from the train as it slowed up in a suburb. He has not been recaptured.

EDDIE M'BRIDE.

Suspect in Murders Here.

McBride has been held as a suspect in at least two murders here. He was arrested here early in May at the request of California authorities. Deputy sheriffs from the coast identified him as one Clarence Kelly, who escaped from the prison a year ago after being convicted of holding up a man in San Francisco.

Immediately after his arrest McBride boasted he would never be taken back to prison.

"If they get me back there it means seven years of solitary confinement," he told his lawyer. "That would mean the box for me. I'd be dead in less than five years. Not for me."

Although the two guards were warned to keep a wary eye on McBride, he managed to free himself some way from the leg irons and shackles placed on him when he left Chicago.

Tried for Mullin Murder.

McBride was tried for the murder of Policeman Mulligan and acquitted. He was also held in connection with the Polk Street mail robbery.

After his escape from San Quentin, McBride returned to Chicago. He quickly picked up an acquaintance with Morris. He was in an automobile outside the Lincoln Gardens when Policeman Mulligan was shot.

McBride fled with Morris after the shooting and was not captured until five weeks later, when he was surrounded in a rooming house at 1242 Adams street. He had attempted to disguise himself by hennaing his hair, which was a deep black. At the time of his capture it was a fiery red.

MRS. MARY LAMB ANGERED AS SON'S WIFE IS FREED

Bigamy charges made against Mrs. Marie N. Robinson, who was arrested yesterday in Morris case when the prosecution failed to prove its case. Thereupon Mrs. J. Lamb, mother-in-law of the woman accused, declined to testify. A case of State's Attorney Frank C. Souhrada.

Mrs. Mary Lamb, former president of the Chicago War Mothers' association, followed her son, Franklin L. Lamb, and his wife, who are in court room, announcing her war was not yet over.

"I am bringing complaints against the woman in Indiana and in Colorado," she said. "It is a case of whether the women of the home or affluence are to be upheld."

The elder Mrs. Lamb charged Marie declined to testify before her divorce—obtained in Colorado—was granted.

FARM AND GARDEN BY FRANK RIDEWAY

CORN BELTERS MUST FIGHT CUTWORMS.

Clans of greedy cutworms come out of their secret quarters at night to do their destructive plundering in gardens and corn fields. Whole rows of tomato, pepper, beans, sweet potato, corn, and similar plants have been moved down in a single night. They feed on practically all kinds of plants that grow in the garden, and have been more numerous this year than usual.

In some sections of Illinois, Missouri, Nebraska, and Iowa cutworms have been so numerous that the stand of corn has been greatly decreased in many fields. Within the last few weeks plants have been cut down by the thousands in gardens and truck patches.

Unless gardeners are familiar with their work the caterpillars may destroy a small garden before they are noticed. They cut off the plants at the surface of the ground. They are large enough to be seen, but their brownish or yellowish gray bodies are so near the color of the ground that they are difficult to find. Each one of them is capable of laying 500 eggs.

The crops are large enough by the time the eggs are laid, but in the fall the damage done by the caterpillars is not as great as it is in the spring. The fall brood of caterpillars are able to go through the winter and come out in the spring—devour the early crops.

Unless steps are taken immediately to check the work of the cutworm there will be serious losses in both garden and field crops this summer.

BANKERS FRANK IN REPLIES ABOUT BUILDING LOANS

Business, Not Patriotism, One Tells Committee.

New York, June 9.—[Special.]—Seven officials of savings banks having on deposit about $500,000,000 of the people's money were asked by the Lockwood committee today to explain why they did not lend more money on real estate and building, and why they forced borrowers to take property, some of it undesirable, or depreciated Liberty bonds as a condition of making the loans. The frankness of some of the replies amazed the committee.

"Our main idea is to get rid of the property, not to stimulate building," was the explanation of William E. Knox, vice president of the Bowery Savings bank, one of the largest in this city, with $156,000,000 in deposits. "There is very little patriotism in business," said Thomas Austin, president of the Home Savings bank of Albany, with deposits of $15,000,000.

Didn't Care for Such Loans. Alexander E. W. Kinnear, president of the Union Dime Savings bank, with deposits of $68,000,000, said he "did not care to" make building loans. "I can get my money out otherwise," he added, saying there was enough profit in loans other than housing loans.

Arthur S. Van Winkle, president of the Empire City Savings bank, with deposits of $15,000,000, said he had gotten rid of all the bank's property by having the bank's borrowers purchase it. Having disposed of the property, he told Samuel Untermyer, senior counsel for the committee, that he was "truly reformed."

Other banking officials examined were Theron Scheraga, secretary of the Central Savings bank; Robert D. Andrews, president of the Metropolitan Savings bank, and William J. Roome, president of the Excelsior Savings bank.

Seek Dryden's Bank Holdings. The committee ordered Mr. Untermyer to ask Jesse M. Phillips, the state superintendent of insurance, to use all the authority of his office to get at the facts concerning the bank holdings of Forrest F. Dryden, president of the Prudential Life Insurance company of Newark.

Mr. Untermyer criticized the federal authorities for delay in investigating cases of two nation-wide combines barred by the committee. He did not impugn the motives of any of the officials at present in power, and later in the day, when he learned through press reports that Attorney General Daugherty had given instructions to United States District Attorney William Hayward to prosecute vigorously, he said the "good news came late, but he was grateful."

Mr. Untermyer took up the exorbitant rent increases in loft and office buildings and had read into the record nearly 500 instances of rent increases in office and loft buildings of from 100 to 400 per cent.

In this connection Mr. Untermyer peremptorily summoned as a witness his own landlord in the person of George T. Mortimer, president of the Equitable Office Building corporation.

BANK OF KINDNESS

Draw a Check on It for the Unfortunate.

BY REV. G. A. MAC WHORTER. Chicago will witness the premiere of Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank's one act play, "Only the Fair," Friday afternoon.

June 17, at the Garrick theater. Miss Lynn Fontanne will create the leading role, and the production will be for the benefit of the China famine relief fund. Three prominent actors will assist Miss Fontanne, and there will be an "all-star" bill of feature acts. Another play by Mrs. Fairbank has been accepted by an eastern producer for presentation by Miss Jane Cowell next fall.

FORD LAYS HIS DEFEAT TO JEWS, SENATE IS TOLD

Washington, D. C., June 9.—Details of the 1918 campaign expenditures made in behalf of Senator Newberry continued today to engross the senate committee engaged in hearing Henry Ford's contest against the seating of the Michigan senator.

Witnesses were called in quick succession and for comparatively brief periods to supplement testimony they had given at the trial of the criminal case against the senator at Grand Rapids, Mich. The committee also heard at second hand what purported to be Mr. Ford's own theory of Senator Newberry's campaign from Allan Templeton of Detroit.

Mr. Ford called me in after the election," Mr. Templeton said, "and told me that he believed a gang of Jews had a general conspiracy to control the senate and the government, and that they had backed Newberry. He said that a million dollars had been spent in the state to carry the election."

FAIL TO AGREE ON ARBITER FOR BUILDING TIEUP

Edward M. Craig, secretary of the Building Construction Employers' association, and Thomas S. Kearney, president of the Building Trades council, met yesterday and failed to agree on the selection of an umpire to settle the lockout of the building workmen.

Since the first of the week, when Mr. Kearney was given full power to consummate an agreement with the employers, representatives of the contractors and union officials have been holding daily conferences in an effort to agree on an arbiter acceptable to both sides. Judge Landis' name has been prominently mentioned by union leaders as the man they favor.

JUDGE FEELS POOR HARRY. Harry D. Mosauer, a traveling salesman registered at the Hotel Sherman, was dismissed by Judge John F. Mass in South Clark street court yesterday when Miss Ruby Florida, 565 Denning place, who charged him with stealing her diamonds worth $2,000 and $28, failed to appear. Later Miss Florida found her jewels.

STATE LAWYERS' CONVENTION IS HELD 'OUTDOORS'

Dixon, Ill., June 9.—[Special.]—The opening session of the Illinois State Bar association was held this afternoon at a historic place on the Rock river called Hazelwood, the former home of Alexander Charters, known to the old residents of Illinois as the governor. There in the early fifties many noted men were entertained.

The lawyers today met in the open air, just beyond the old log cabin, under the trees on the bank of the river. President Logan Hay of Springfield presided. Reports of Secretary R. Allen Stephens and of Treasurer Franklin L. Velde were short, as was the business meeting.

Then the lawyers were taken in land by the local entertainment committee and spent the balance of the day at the country club. This evening there was a reception followed by a business session. The work of local bar associations was discussed by President Logan Hay and Silas H. Strawn of Chicago, who is slated for next year's president.

Clarence N. Goodwin of Chicago gave the principal address of the evening on the official organization of the state bar.

Over three hundred attorneys had registered this afternoon, and this number will be greatly increased tomorrow.

Solicitor General of the United States William L. Frierson, will discuss the "Federal Constitution Recently Amended."

NORRIS DEFENDS SENATE BILL ON MEAT INDUSTRY

Washington, D. C., June 9.—[Special.]—When debate on the meat packer control bill was begun in the senate today Senator Norris of Nebraska, chairman of the committee on agriculture, declared that he anticipated that opponents of regulating legislation would join in a fight for substitution of the house bill, which, he said, is much less drastic than the measure proposed by the senate committee on agriculture.

"Speaking in a general way, the house bill is not so drastic as the senate bill," said Senator Norris. "I think it will be found that those who are against any legislation or any regulation of the packing industry by the government will be found fighting for the house bill in the senate."

PACKER SEES DISASTER. In a statement sent to every member of the United States senate yesterday Thomas E. Wilson, president of the Institute of American Meat Packers, presented arguments why proposed national legislation governing packing industry will bring ruin to the business.

In a specially prepared table the profits per dollar of sales during 1920 are shown as 0.24 cents. The highest profits per dollar during the last eight years were taken in during 1916, and estimated at 3.3 cents. The profits per animal slaughtered during 1920 are given at 19 cents.

It is argued that if legislation is passed the supervisory power over the industry must have the ability and authority to bring the various branches of the packing business together so they can finally work out the problems of the industry.

SUNDAY TRIBUNE WANT AD SECTION—Always At Your Service!

THESE are the days that lure the avowed pedestrian to the AUTOMOBILE columns of The Sunday Tribune Want Ad Section, hunting a chariot for the summer jaunting.

If you have a used car that you have been hesitating to sell, wait no longer—the time to get quick returns is now! And hand in hand with the right time is the right medium for a quick sale—a Want Ad in The Sunday Tribune.

The aggregate value of the cars advertised for sale every week in this great motor mart runs well over the million mark, and a high percentage sold promptly. Sell your car with a Want Ad in this Sunday's Tribune!

THIS young woman is not at all satisfied with her room, and so she is taking the best possible method of finding another and a better one. She is giving careful scrutiny to The Sunday Tribune Want Ad Section, just as other Tribune readers will look to The Tribune next Sunday to solve their room problem.

If you have a room or two to rent, you'll find that the quickest way to find the right kind of people is by means of a Sunday Tribune Want Ad. If you have never before put the "guest room" into active service, begin to do so next week. An empty room represents needless expense, and you can easily set it to work, helping out the family income, with a Want Ad in Sunday's issue. Call Central 100 and ask for an Adtaker.

YOU KNOW by this time whether you will or will not be plowing up the waters of Lake Mich. this year. It is not yet too late to sell your boat, but the further along in the season you let it go, the harder it will be.

A Want Ad in Sunday's Boats & Yachts column will quickly put you in touch with prospective buyers. Order your Want Ad today! Call Central 100 and ask for an Adtaker.

THE OPEN ROAD—the miles slipping away as you course along the countryside—up at dawn and away.

It's a wise man who journeys on a motorcycle or bicycle. His are the quiet lanes and the lonely stretches that are taboo to heavier vehicles.

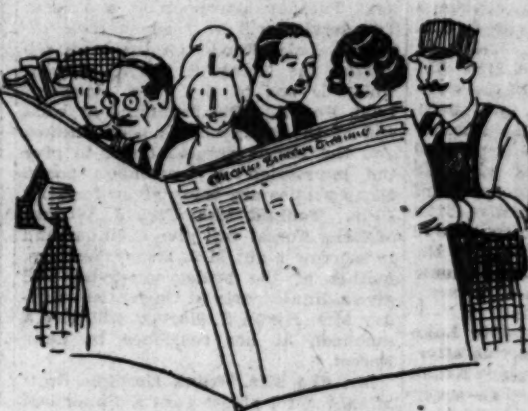

In the Motorcycles and Bicycles classification are many opportunities every Sunday. If you have a machine that you will not use this summer, remember that the quickest way to sell it is by means of a Want Ad in this Sunday's Tribune.

HERE'S A HUNCH for you ball players—buy suits and equipment for the team with a Want Ad in the Sporting Goods classification of The Sunday Tribune Want Ad Section. Or if your team was broken up last year, you can salvage a good amount on the original purchase price by advertising your equipment for sale in this same column. So with football, golf, tennis—no end of good values are to be found every Sunday.

TENTS, stored away, depreciate rapidly, so if you bought a tent last year that you will not use this year, it is better to sell it. Then, if you want to buy equipment next year, you can pick up a bargain in the same manner as you sell this year—a Want Ad in Tents & Awnings. The open season for campers is well along, so if you want to get returns next week, order your Want Ad for next Sunday!

A FAIR visitor to the city, while sojourning in the Loop, lost her squirrel necklace. She inserted a Want Ad in Lost & Found; it was promptly answered, and the fur returned by parcel post. The young lady felt so good about it that she wrote to The Tribune expressing her appreciation of the, to her, remarkable recovery. But there is really nothing unusual about the occurrence. It happens every day. When you have occasion to make use of Lost & Found, away with fret and worry—call Central 100 and ask for an Adtaker.

WHENEVER YOU become convinced that this chair or table or those curtains or drapes are not just the thing, always remember that you can sell them, right away, with a Want Ad in HOUSEHOLD GOODS. And it's the best plan, after all. Every Sunday there are hundreds of such offers; other people are taking this short cut to better looking interiors, why not you? Try it this Sunday.

1921 will reward FIGHTERS! This is the year that demands unusual effort; and the man who is willing to give that extra effort is receiving the rewards of '21. Whether it's more capital for your present business, or bigger backing, or new blood, use the BUSINESS CHANCES columns of The Sunday Tribune! If you wish to sell out or buy into another line, use BUSINESS CHANCES.

The Fighters of 1921 are making use of this section every Sunday—in the last issue of The Sunday Tribune the total value of business represented was over five million dollars! And all you have to do to get into this great market for your particular needs is to call Central 100 and ask for an Adtaker!

CLOSING HOUR

TO MAKE all editions of The Sunday Tribune, Want Ads must be in The Tribune office by NINE P. M. Friday; for all city editions, by TWO o'clock Saturday afternoon. Order your Want Ad today!

Tub Frocks for Summer Days

Are Very Moderately Priced at $12.50, $15, $16.50

Lovely frocks which promise comfort and smartness the summer through. Their crisp fabrics and charming colors invite one to choose now and so do away with hurried selection when the really hot days are here to stay.

Soft voiles and fresh ginghams with daintily cool-looking touches of white organdy or net—easily freshened—always lovely in summer frocks, and especially so in these.

Sketched at right, a frock for women and misses. Of dotted Normandy voile, navy or Copenhagen blue, brown or rose for misses, and in the blues only for women, with rosettes, collar, cuffs of white organdy. $15.

The misses' frock sketched at the left is of dotted voile, with fluted satin ribbons and a lace collar. Navy blue. $16.50. The woman's gingham frock, center, in summer checks, has rick-rack edging. $12.50.

Fourth Floor, South.

Schoolgirls' Knitted Capes

On the Lines of Grown-up Fashions

Are $6.75

A delightful reflection of one of this season's most successful fashions.

And one so perfectly in keeping with the sort of outdoor apparel girls prefer now that it is certain to be chosen quickly.

Of All-Wool In Effectively Combined Colors

They are knitted with a border of stripes in contrasting shades. Some have deep collars of soft white angora wool. Others are

In Both the Dark and Light Colors

Fourth Floor, East.

Silken Boudoir Coats

Unusually Priced, $7.95

There is a place in every summer wardrobe for such boudoir coats as these. In the darker tones they are delightful for traveling. In the lovely pastel tints they are the daintiest sort of robes for leisure hours.

Their lustrous quality one notes instantly. They are carefully made, simple in line, unusually well fitted. Indeed, they have every feature desirable for a summer negligee. In Rose, Wistaria, Light Blue, Pink, Copenhagen Blue and Orchid.

Third Floor, North.

Tub Skirts Are Plaided, $7

Or of Lustrous White Surf Satin, $8

Extremely smart are the "tub" versions of the favored plaid skirts in cotton ratine, such as the skirt sketched at the right in

—navy blue
—black, green
—with white

There are slit pockets, marked by the pearl buttons. A skirt distinctly different.

Surf Satin Skirts, Priced $8

The satin is the excellent quality which tailors so well. The pockets are clever in design and there are large decorative buttons. Sketched, left, $8.

Tub Skirts in Favored Fabrics, $3.75 to $12.50

Their variety is apparently limitless, and there is such skillful variation of detail that choosing is more than usually interesting. Color is often introduced.

Fourth Floor, North.

Summer Hats to Trim

Of Georgette Crepe in Exquisite and Varied Color Tones

To describe these hats as untrimmed really does them an injustice. For many of them may be smartly worn just as they are, and their unusually lovely colors furnish just the right accent for the summer costume.

Some Are of Tinsel Ribbon
Others Have Beaded Motifs
or All Over Embroideries

There are large drooping hats, small hats, and hats such as the one sketched with brims charmingly irregular, which one tilts this way or that as is most becoming.

Priced $8.75 to $12.50

Fifth Floor, South.

Fine Lingerie For Children

Fresh, new assortments are constantly arriving.

They bring daintily fine undergarments, simple, of excellent fabrics, always with choice laces and embroideries. All excellent values, of which these are typical:

Pajamas at $2.95

Night-dresses at $1.95

With vacation to provide for, these assortments are very important now.

Third Floor, North.

Lovely Frocks for Graduation Day

All Schoolgirls Can Choose Them Here

Interestingly Priced, $8.50, $16.50, $25, $32.50

Their's is the charm of youth, with the smartness which is a skillful combination of favored modes and the restraining touch of simplicity characteristic of girls' apparel here.

Daintily fine, exquisite in trimming, these frocks may be chosen at a pricing which meets any preferred plan of expenditure.

These Frocks Are of Organdy, Net or Crepe de Chine, With Airy Ruffles, Quaint Nosegays, Picoted Ribbon, Hand-Embroidery

At the right is an organdy frock with many scallops and tiny flowers of worsted. Sizes 12 to 16, $8.50. Of quite another type is the ruffled organdy frock, at left. Sizes 12 to 16, $16.50.

The frock of fine net, left center, sizes 6 to 16, is $25. And the crepe de Chine frock, left-center, with hand-made motifs, sizes 12 to 16, is $32.50.

Girls' White Middles and Separate Skirts

This type of graduation costume, preferred in many schools, may be selected here from complete assortments. The materials are excellent, and in their detail they are of the prescribed correctness which means smartness for girls' apparel of this sort. Their excellence of tailoring must also be mentioned.

Fourth Floor, East.

A Sale of Cedar Chests

At Exceptionally Low Prices

$13.50, $15, $19.50 and $21

With the storage of winter garments an immediate necessity now, this selling comes very opportunely. The pricings in each instance mean remarkable values, and are possible only because of a most advantageous special purchase.

There Are Just 100 of These Splendid Cedar Chests Of Best Cabinet Construction, Finished in Colonial Pattern, With Dust-Proof Covers and Corners Dovetailed

Each cedar chest is fitted with brass hinges, lid stays, locks, casters and wooden handles. There are three sizes from which selection may be made. Either all plain or trimmed with copper and studded with copper nails.

Chests at $13.50 and $15

These are 40 inches long, 18 inches wide by 18 inches high. Plain they are priced at $13.50, with copper trimmings they are priced at $15.

Chests at $19.50 and $21

Two sizes—40 x 20 1/2 x 21 inches and 48 x 20 1/2 x 18 inches. Plain chests priced, each, $19.50; trimmed with copper, priced $21.

In View of the Limited Quantity, Early Selection Is Advisable.

Sixth Floor, North.

Many an Unusual Style Feature Marks the Bathing Suits of This Season

Their variety is fascinating.

Here one may choose a bathing suit in a preferred color, and carry it out to a smart completeness with novel and charming accessories to harmonize. Especially featured are

Women's Knitted Bathing Suits, $5.75 In Stripes with Plain Bandings

An excellent quality and comfortable weight. In stripes of green, blue and black, with trimmings of contrasting color. Sketched at left.

Misses' Bathing Suits with Smart White Wool Pompons, $7.50

There is a fetching little tunic banded in white, and fluffy white pompons for accent. In bright blue or green. Sketched at the right.

Other Knitted Bathing Suits Range in Pricing from $3.75 Up to $15.

Fourth Floor, East.

Mandel Brothers

Apparel floor—the fourth

Roshanara crepe skirts

for smart sports wear

Fashionable box plaited skirts of jacquard roshanara crepe in new summer shades—

bisque, gray, navy, copenhagen; also white

16.75

Worn with blouse and sports jacket, one of these skirts completes a modish and uncommonly attractive sports costume for many occasions of fashionable summer wear in town or at the country club. See the sketch. The price is notably low for such excellence of style and fabric.
